THOUSANDS FLEE FROM FLOODS

WATER FROM BROKEN DAM MENACES VAST FRONTIER OF INDIA

Villages Deserted As Planes And Fires
Warn Natives

SIMLA, India, Aug. 14.—The mighty flood which is raging down the Indus Valley from the broken ice dam in the Shyok River on top of the Karakoram mountains in India threatened today to cut off the entire frontier region from the rest of the country.

The torrent was rushing towards Skardo and is expected to reach the Attok railway bridge spanning the Indus tonight. Engineers are working feverishly to strengthen the bridge as its collapse would isolate the frontier region.

Villages below the flood level are evacuated. Frightened villagers, bearing as much of their household goods as they can carry upon their backs, jam the roadways leading from the danger zone. A stream of refugees is pouring into Peshawar. Elaborate precautionary measures have been taken by the police and soldiers to get the people out of the district in the path of the flood. Royal air force aviators swept down the Kabul Valley warning villages along the river. Some aviators kept pace with the flood notifying the authorities of its progress.

BOMEAY, INDIA, Aug. 14.—A mighty chain of signal fires, stretching 140 miles along the ridges of the Karakoram mountain range to Leh in the Himalayas, today gave warning to thousands of people to flee from their homes to avoid death in the rushing torrent from the broken Shyok River ice dam.

When the dam gave way 700,000,000 tons of water swept with a roar of thunder down the Indus Valley from the mountains, spreading desolation in its path. As this gigantic tidal wave crashed its way toward the Kashmir plains, municipal and military authorities issued orders in measures to warn the villages in the path of the torrent. The dam was upon the crest of a mountain wall, 17,000 feet high, which gave it a tremendous impetus.

An ice barrier had dammed an artificial lake blocking the Shyok River on the top of the Karakoram Mountains for miles. In addition to the flaming beacons couriers were sent posthaste by airplane and railway train to warn the people in the lower Indus Valley. For some time the ice barrier had been growing weaker and the collapse did not take the authorities entirely by surprise.

The glacier lake was in an isolated position, being 140 miles from the nearest telegraph line.

POWER MONOPOLY TARGET OF NORRIS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 14.—There is just one predominant issue in the present state and national campaigns—curbing the grip the power monopoly has on electrical distribution—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, declared in a speech here last night. Senator Norris is stumping the state for LaFollette Progressive candidates. He declared that the people have not yet fully realized the full importance of the public utility question.

REPORT TRIBES OF ARABIA ON WARPATH

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Dispatches from Jerusalem state that the fanatical Wahabi tribes of Arabia are about to go on the warpath against British outposts in Mesopotamia. It is reported that the tribes have the moral if not the active support of Ibn Saud, king of the Hedjaz, and extraordinary precautions are being taken by the British authorities in the near east to prevent a serious uprising.

BOTH JAWS BROKEN

LANCASTER, O., Aug. 14.—Oscar Smith of Ulica, near here, is suffering with two fractured jaws and minus eight front teeth, today as a result of being hit in the face by a baseball bat which slipped from the hands of a batsman during a game here yesterday. His face also was badly cut, twelve stitches being required to close the wound. Smith was a spectator.

TEACHER'S SLAYER CONFESSES

ABANDON HOPE FOR FOUR LOST WHEN SMALL BOAT CAPSIZED

WATCH HILL, R. I., Aug. 14.—Four college youths, missing since their sailboat capsized between the mainland and Fisher's Island, N. Y., were given up for lost today by searchers who had used airplanes and small craft in the hunt and who had been joined by the veteran boats of the coastguard.

The lone survivor of the sound tragedy, John M. Coleman, of Chestnut Hills, Pa., picked up unconscious by George Adams, of Noank, Conn., fisherman, had recovered sufficiently in Western Hospital to tell the dramatic story of how the little vessel capsized when the anchor was put overboard in a choppy sea, how efforts were made to right her, how he got to the keel of the overturned craft, how Trowbridge Cottrell, one of the amateur sailors, suddenly disappeared, how John McIlvain, of Ardmore, Pa., son of the owner of the boat, started to swim ashore and was never seen again, and how he did not remember what became of the others—Joseph Scales, of Louisville, Ky., and Lloyd Bankson, of Philadelphia.

SEVENTY THOUSAND CONCERNED IN VOTE ON RAILWAY STRIKE

Brotherhoods Refuse To Compromise Wage Increase

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Seventy thousand railroad employees are concerned in a strike vote which is to be taken today by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors in the western states. The unions have asked wage increases, ranging from 10 per cent for yardmen to 18 per cent for trainmen and conductors. An attempt at arbitration was made at a meeting in Chicago last week, attended by representatives of the unions, a committee representing the railroads, and John Williams, of the federal board of mediation. The railroads offered a 7 1/2 per cent increase, according to reports, and the unions, at sectional meetings today will decide by vote whether they will stand by their original demands and strike, according to A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with headquarters here. The wage increase offered by the railroads was acceptable to the two unions, but an agreement, which was made conditional, abolishing certain working rules, was not, Whitney said. The arbitration meeting then came to an abrupt end and the unions and sent out prepared by the unions and sent out to Chicago yesterday. The ballots are to be returned to Chicago by September 2. Railroads controlling about 98 per cent of the tracks west of Chicago would be affected by a strike.

"The offer made by the railroads, if accepted," Whitney said, "would have discriminated against our western workers and trainmen, as it would have established rates of pay lower than those in effect on the eastern and southern roads.

"Elimination of the working rules which the railroads asked us to abolish would have offset the increase they offered us and, consequently, would have lowered the standards of pay in comparison with the roads in other sections of the country."

TUNNEY PREPARES FOR EUROPEAN TRIP

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Having successfully eluded reporters by borrowing a pair of "cheaters" and slipping into New York on an early train, Gene Tunney today was quietly completing preparations for the start of his European trip on Thursday.

Last evening the retired heavyweight champion and fiancé of Polly Lauder, $50,000,000 heiress, was feted at an engagement dinner tendered by members of the Madison Square Garden Corporation in the home of James I. Bush, the banker. The ex-marine who relinquished the blue ribbon of the prize ring for the blue book of the social world declared that he had made his last public appearance.

SMITH BELIEVES HE HAS CAPTURED FARM LEADERS' SUPPORT

Candidate Confers With Agricultural Ex- perts.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Convinced that he has won the support of farm leaders from various parts of the country because of his stand on farm relief, Governor Al Smith today was to put the final touches on the address he will deliver one week from tomorrow in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although the ten farm experts with whom he conferred for five hours at the executive mansion yesterday, left for their homes without announcing that they would publicly support him, the governor feels, according to his advisers, that eventually a majority of them will throw their strength to the Democratic ticket.

Six of the ten farm experts who came here for a round table discussion of the agricultural problem with Smith are rated as Republicans. Two of them, Earl C. Smith, of Illinois, and Frank W. Murphy, of Minnesota, were delegates to the Republican national convention.

Smith is president of the Illinois Agricultural Association with a membership of 60,000. Murphy is chairman of the legislative committee of the corn belt committee of twenty-two.

According to reports at the capitol today, two or three of the farm leaders made a futile attempt to induce Smith to take a decided stand in favor of the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which was vetoed by President Coolidge. The governor is said to have bluntly told them that he subscribed to the broad principle of controlling surplus farm commodity and assessing the cost on the group to be benefited, but that he would not take any definite stand now as to the details of such a plan.

Both Smith and the leaders insisted that farm relief and not politics had been discussed at their five hour conference in the executive mansion. The chief reason why the governor invited the experts to Albany, according to his close friends, was to make an open bid for the farm vote of the middle west.

YOUNG GIRL KILLED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Seventeen-year-old Thelma Cox, of Cleveland, is dead today, having been instantly killed last night when the automobile in which she was riding overturned after striking a hole in the road. Charles Thomas, 23, of Ravenna, driver of the car, suffered bruises, while the victim's sister, Mary, also sustained minor injuries.

BRITISH RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ACCEPT REDUCTION IN WAGES

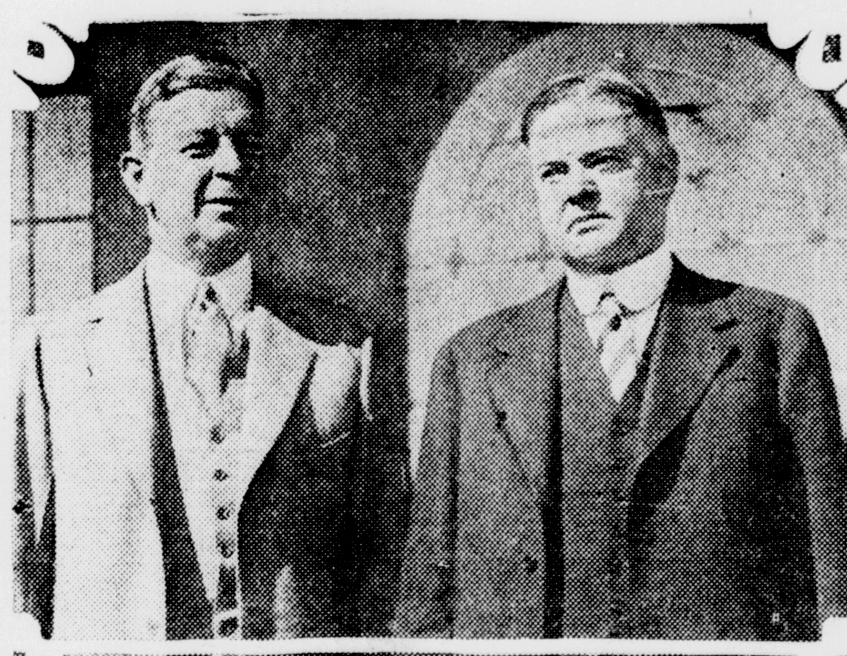

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Every man employed by English railways, approximately 650,000 in number—according to the executives down to the humblest station porter will receive a reduction in wage as a result of the financial crisis confronting the four great railway systems.

The men voted to accept a 2 1/2 per cent wage cut while the executives acted voluntarily in slicing their own incomes.

The railways have been losing money so heavily that they were threatened with actual bankruptcy. An agreement was reached between the companies and the three railway trade unions. Put to a vote by the men, it was ratified. The new wage scale went into effect yesterday.

It was estimated today that the wage cut will save the companies approximately $14,000,000 during the next year. Railway receipts so far in 1928 are $30,000,000 under those of last year.

LOWDEN PASSIVELY ENDORSES HOOVER'S FARM RELIEF STAND

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The comment of former Governor Frank J. Lowden, of Illinois, on the acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover as viewed by political leaders today as a sort of passive endorsement of the Republican presidential nominee.

Lowden, recognized leader of the middle western farm belt, has remained in virtual retirement since the national convention at Kansas City—a convention that went against Lowden and most of his treasured plans for farm relief. His announcement, made through John G. Oglesby, former lieutenant governor and now head of the farm bureau committee of the Republican national committee, broke a conspicuous political silence and put the former Illinois governor on record.

"I am much impressed by Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech as a whole," was the meat of the Lowden announcement, it continued:

"With reference to agriculture, his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most economic problem in our nation today is very heartening. I think a thousand times, that a general acknowledgment that the problem exists would be half the battle. If there had been such recognition years ago, the agricultural situation would be vastly different today. Mr. Hoover's aspirations to bring the farm population up to economic equality with other groups has my heartiest approval. I think, however, that his proposed stabilization corporation can only attain the object which he hopes to accomplish if the cost to the corporation of stabilizing the price of any commodity be distributed over the commodity involved and not taken from the public treasury."

"In my judgment, Mr. Hoover's statement fails to give assurance of the means that will be adequate to secure the ends promised. He promises higher tariffs, waterway improvement and a farm board to set up stabilization corporations financed by government loans. This last proposal was the basis of the crisis bill, which congress rejected in the last session and which failed to secure farm support."

"Mr. Hoover says the tariff is the foundation of farm relief and promises to use his office and influence to give the farmer the full benefit of our historic tariff policy. For five years, western farmers have demanded not only that agricultural tariffs be adequate, but that a way be found to make such tariffs effective on that portion of our surplus crops consumed at home. On the latter, Mr. Hoover is silent. This question has been too much in the forefront of farm relief discussion to be ignored. Farmers will want this question answered before they go to the polls in November."

Harry J. Merchant, trustee for the DeWolfe, filed the petition which asks the court to construe the will under which Mrs. Harding's estate was disposed of. The petition declares the articles include table lamps, glassware, jewelry and other items not in the list of household belongings specifically bequeathed to the memorial association in Mrs. Harding's will.

On one day, he said, 5,000 cars of fruit reached New York City from California and 5,000 more from Florida, although the city's demand totaled but 1,600 cars. As a result, he added, the New York market was glutted and prices collapsed. In an effort to save their fruit, he continued, the shippers sent several thousand cars up and down the Atlantic coast, destroying the markets in all nearby cities. One car, he added, travelled 17,000 miles and when it finally halted, the fruit was dumped into a sewer.

Hoover has become convinced that this sort of distribution and waste would solve the surplus problem in losses every year. He will attempt to eliminate it by getting the farmers to organize nationwide co-operatives to handle market, distribution and production problems. If the producers of an entire crop could discuss their problems—just as furniture-makers, steel manufacturers, oil producers and other business men do—Hoover believes half of their losses could be eliminated. At least, he will give this method of relief a test, providing the farmers agree, as the government itself would only participate in an advisory capacity.

The nominee also believes that this proposal for a farmer-controlled, federally-financed farm board would solve the surplus problem. He told of the crash of cotton prices a year ago and declared it was his opinion that the cotton crop could have been stabilized if 11,000,000 bales had been withdrawn from the market. He will ask congress, should he be elected, to provide funds for just such a situation.

Hoover's farm relief program however will include recommendation to congress for the creation of a farm board, backed by at least $250,000,000 of government funds but regulated and controlled by farmers themselves, for the handling of surplus crops. In his acceptance speech, he also pledged the development of inland waterways to reduce transportation costs, and the equalization of tariff rates on farm products to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by industry.

"The Republican nominee declared the 'greatest problem' of the farmer today was to devise 'some plan, along co-operative lines that will enable him to protect his surplus.' In a talk to newspaper correspondents about his speech, Hoover told of an incident in the New York fruit market, which illustrated the necessity for injecting better business methods into the agricultural situation.

NEGRO SHOE SHINER ADMITS MURDER IN SUBURB OF CHICAGO

Caught When Police Trace Watch Taken From Victim

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 14.—Extra precautions were being taken today to prevent mob violence from snuffing out the life of David Shanks, the Chicago negro, who confessed late yesterday to the murder of Miss Jennie Meta Constance, 42-year-old Peoria school teacher and summer student at Northwestern University.

Evanson's "worst crime in a decade" became solved when detectives traced a wrist watch, which had been torn from the school teacher's arm after the attack, to Shanks. He was working in a shoe shining parlor when arrested. Confronted with the evidence, Shanks said: "Yes, I did it."

He was rushed to police headquarters, where, before citizens generally knew of his arrest, his confession was taken down in detail. He was then held away in an adjoining district as a precaution against lynching.

The watch was trailed in this manner. When it was definitely established that Miss Constance had worn a watch the night of her disappearance, police notified all jewelers to be on the lookout.

Early yesterday a white boy took a lady's wrist watch to a Devon Ave. jeweler to have it re-initialed. It bore the letters J. M. C., representing Jennie Meta Constance. The jeweler got in touch with police and the watch was identified as that of Miss Constance.

Miss Constance, head of the English department at Bradley Polytechnical Institute at Peoria, was clubbed to death a week ago tonight as she was returning to her rooming house from Northwestern University campus library.

Her body was found behind a hedge surrounding the palatial home of Attorney George R. Peaks, Evanston millionaire. She had been clubbed to death with a piece of lead pipe, and her body violated. Finding of her empty purse and other evidence indicated her attacker had also robbed her.

In his own confession, Shanks said he went to Evanston from Chicago last Tuesday evening with the intention of waylaying and robbing some woman. He denied that he had attacked his victim.

HARDING MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION SUED

MARION, O., Aug. 14.—Naming the Harding Memorial Association as defendant, a suit was on file here today on behalf of Jean De Wolfe and George Neely DeWolfe, grand children of the late Florence Kling Harding, President Harding's widow, in which they seek to recover certain household articles left in Mrs. Harding's estate.

Harry J. Merchant, trustee for the DeWolfe, filed the petition which asks the court to construe the will under which Mrs. Harding's estate was disposed of. The petition declares the articles include table lamps, glassware, jewelry and other items not in the list of household belongings specifically bequeathed to the memorial association in Mrs. Harding's will.

POLICEMAN DIES

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—The body of Charles C. Clayton, 59, Ohio State University policeman, was to be taken to his home in Lewis Center today. Clayton dropped dead on the campus last night. He had been suffering from dropsy and hardening of the arteries. He had held the position since 1922 and was widely known among students at the university.

HOPI BUCKS SEEK SNAKES FOR SACRED DANCE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 14.—Clad only in loin cloth of buckskin, their naked bodies glistening with mineral red, streaked with black and white, four bands of Hopi Indians at sun-up today left the sacred "Kiva" of a sun-parched plateau in northern Arizona.

Blessed by the tribal priests, they set forth, carrying a plenteous supply of sacred meal. One band journeyed north, one south, one east and another west.

They were the snake hunters, who for the next four days will hunt and gather hundreds of rattlers and other poisonous vipers, to be used in the weird ceremonial dances which each year attract increasing hundreds of tourists and students of Indian customs, to the scene of the celebration.

To all the preliminary ceremonies, including the snake hunt, the white man is barred. None of the "Kiva" or ceremonial chamber unless he be member of the tribe,

BUSINESS METHODS WILL HELP FARMERS IS HOOVER'S CLAIM

Thinks Co-operatives Would Improve Marketing

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 14.—The injection of "big business" methods into the conduct of American agriculture will be Herbert Hoover's first contribution to the relief of the farm problem, should he be elected president, it was learned here today.

Convinced that agriculture has suffered unnecessary losses through slack business methods, Hoover will seek to organize American farmers into a series of gigantic co-operatives, one for each major crop, in an effort to eliminate waste, improve marketing conditions, reduce cost of production and distribution and increase farm profits. He is certain, it was learned, that proper business regulation of agriculture will go far toward eradicating agricultural depression.

The Hoover farm relief program however will include recommendation to congress for the creation of a farm board, backed by at least $250,000,000 of government funds but regulated and controlled by farmers themselves, for the handling of surplus crops. In his acceptance speech, he also pledged the development of inland waterways to reduce transportation costs, and the equalization of tariff rates on farm products to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by industry.

"The Republican nominee declared the 'greatest problem' of the farmer today was to devise 'some plan, along co-operative lines that will enable him to protect his surplus.' VOTERS MAKE THEIR CHOICE AFTER WARM PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

Prohibition And Public Utility Fights Fea- ture Election

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—Ohio voters today are casting their ballots at statewide Democratic and Republican primary elections. Nominations are being made at the polls today for state, congressional, legislative, judicial and county offices. The nominees will make up the state tickets which will be submitted to Buckeye state voters at the November election.

With interest in the race for gubernatorial nominations at fever pitch, election experts today voiced the opinion that between 900,000 and 1,000,000 Ohioans will vote at today's primaries. Approximately 700,000 votes were cast at Ohio's primary election two years ago. With fair weather forecast for the day, state election officials expressed belief that from 600,000 to 650,000 Republicans and from 250,000 to 300,000 Democrats will go to the polls throughout Ohio today.

Nominations will be made today for governor, U. S. senator (two to be chosen by each political party), lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, judge of the Ohio supreme court (two to be selected by each party), congress, state senator, state representative, appellate, common pleas and probate court judges, clerk of common pleas courts, sheriffs, county commissioners, county treasurers, surveyors, coroners and county prosecutors.

Ohio voters will also elect members of Democratic and Republican state and county central committees today.

The wet-dry issue and the question of public utility regulation featured the pre-primary campaign of candidates for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination. In the contest between Davey and Bloom for the Democratic nomination for governor, the wet-dry issue was prominent. In addition to pleas for farm relief, the prohibition issue was injected into the contest of a number of candidates for the U. S. senatorial posts.

Fever heat in connection with the prohibition issue was registered soon after the issuance by the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union of its "white list" and by Superintendent E. J. Moore of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, of a "sample ballot." The list and ballot endorsed certain candidates as "satisfactory" and withheld endorsement from others.

The W. C. T. U. list and the Anti-Saloon League ballot endorsed Davey and Bloom. Although the league's ballot limited its endorsement, among the Republican nominees, the league and Cooper, the W. C. T. U. list approved the candidates of Begg, Shanley and Cooper.

Friends of Begg, members of the Anti-Saloon League, took vigorous exception publicly to the league's failure to accord its official endorsement to Begg. Supporters of Bloom urged the Anti-Saloon League to annul its endorsement of Davey who was accused of being a "double-crosser" by the league and with having approved the candidacy of Gov. Al Smith for president.

Throughout his campaign, Attorney General Turner launched attacks upon the Anti-Saloon League and utility lobbyists and urged the repeal of the Pence act which relates to rates collected by public utilities from their Ohio customers. Turnage had existed between utility interests and members of the Anti-Saloon League with a view to controlling activities by the Ohio legislature.

SEEK KIDNAPER AND YOUNG GIRL VICTIM

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Aug. 14.—Prospects of the posting of a reward for the apprehension of Grover C. Hardin, 37, of Chillicothe, alleged to have abducted Opal Gowder, 14-year-old, schoolgirl, loomed today.

Opal was picking blackberries along the road near her home here yesterday when Hardin kidnapped her, according to reports, and it was believed probable today that relatives of the missing girl will offer a reward.

MARION WILL HAVE 104 ACRE AIRPORT

MARION, O., Aug. 14.—Another milestone on the road of aviation's progress in Ohio was believed marked today following the action of city council last night in passing an ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $7,000 for a tract of 104 acres, two miles west of this city, as a site for an airport.

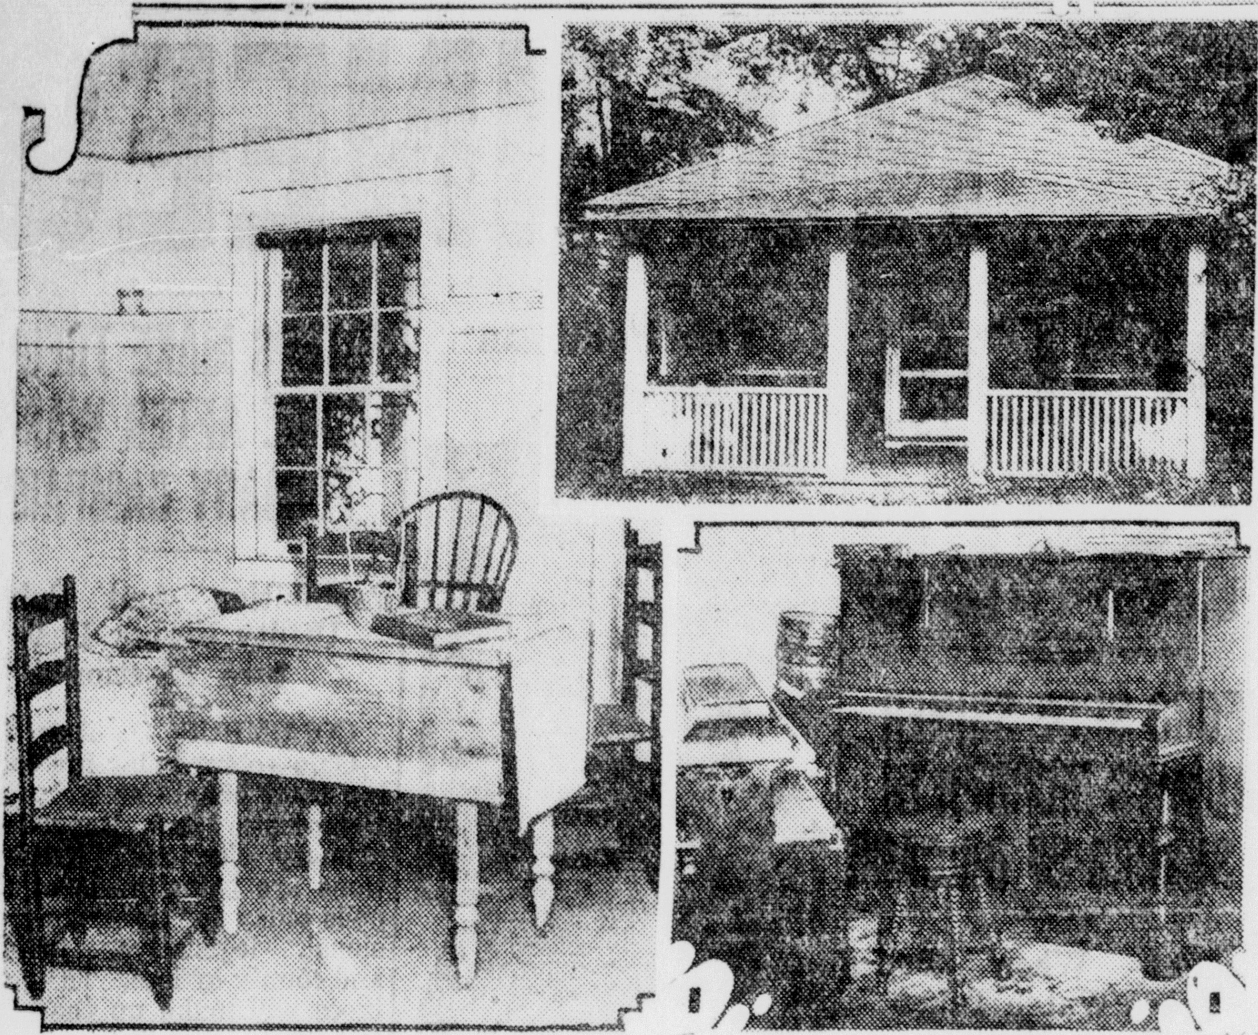

Experts say the site is ideally adapted for the airport.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Hyman, N. King St., are spending a week at Sulphur Lick Springs.

Aldora Chapin, No. 262, O. E. S., will hold a meeting at the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock instead of Monday night as previously announced.

Mrs. William Fisher (Hallie Jacoby) is recovering from a recent operation, performed at a local hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Foust and Miss Elizabeth Ray have returned home after enjoying a trip through the west. They visited Messrs. Lee and Robert Ray at Glendale, Cal., while on the trip.

Mrs. Anell Stephens and Miss Louise Wood have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mendenhall, near Xenia.

Miss Georgia Ledbetter has returned to her work at the Hutchins and Gibney store, after two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Harry Cross and son, Robert, of W. Church St., left Sunday for Columbus where they will spend a week with Mrs. Cross daughter, Mrs. John Lanius.

Miss Pauline Nash has returned from New Concord, O., where she spent several days with friends and attending the Bible Conference.

Miss Frances Jack returned Tuesday from Franklin, where she has been attending the Chautauqua for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. LeValley entertained at their Sunday dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur and daughters, Helen, Mary and Velma and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, all of Eleazar and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anderson and children, Lots, Ronald, Kathleen and Miss Lucille Hurley of Spring Valley.

Mr. Ralph Morris, Portsmouth, Va., is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Jenkins and grandmother, Mrs. Morris, W. Main St. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris will motor through next week and stay until after the Home-Coming.

FLYING OFFICER PICKS FIELD FOR HOME-COMING AIR PARADE

Major Jacob Fickel, commanding officer at Wright Field, was scheduled to arrive in Xenia Tuesday for the purpose of inspecting a tract of land north of Shawnee Park. In the hope it will prove suitable as a landing place for a fleet of planes which will furnish an "aerial parade" during the Greene County Home-Coming celebration the latter part of this month.

Dr. A. C. Messenger, chairman of the program committee, and a committee of Xenia business men, expected to meet the officer and accompany him on the inspection trip.

Major Fickel is enthusiastic over plans for the coming celebration and will co-operate in every way, Dr. Messenger declared.

HEAVY PRIMARY VOTE BEING RECORDED IN GREENE COUNTY

Greene County was recording one of the largest, if not the greatest, primary votes in its history at Tuesday's election.

With fine weather prevailing and enough state and local contests to arouse more interest than usual, election board officials looked for a record vote.

DEMOCRATS GIVEN $50,000 BY DU PONT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Democratic national headquarters today received a check for $50,000 from Pierre S. Du Pont, chairman of the board of the General Motors Corporation, who recently declared his support of Governor Smith.

The contribution is the largest received to date by the Smith campaign managers and is one of the largest political contributions ever recorded in any campaign.

Mr. DuPont, who is a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared in announcing his support of Smith that the governor's open advocacy of modification of the Volstead act was his principle reason for abandoning the Republican party and throwing his support to the Democratic candidate.

PASSENGERS TAKEN FROM GROUNDED SHIP

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14.—The Munson liner Munamar is still aground on the reef off great Abaco Island, Bahamas, despite the combined efforts of several tugs to release it from the position in which it got stuck during a gale early Sunday.

The 75 passengers aboard the vessel, enroute from Miami to New York, have been safely removed and taken to Nassau.

MAYOR'S COURT

PAIR ARRESTED
Alleged to have been fighting at the home of Leslie Hedgepath, colored, E. Main St., Monday night, Frederick Moore and Albert Dickey, both colored, were arrested by Patrolmen Fred Jones and Charles Thompson.

Moore, whom police say was also arrested last August 4, was fined $15 and costs for intoxication and disorderly conduct by Mayor John W. Prugh Tuesday morning. He pleaded guilty.

Dickey pleaded no guilty to similar charges and will be given a hearing before Mayor Prugh Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. He is being held at Police Headquarters.

Police say the pair almost wrecked the Hedgepath home, breaking furniture and dishes.

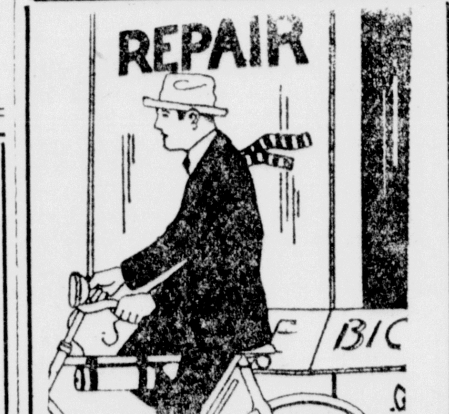

FINED ON CHARGE

Pleading guilty to drunkenness and being disorderly, Thomas Monahan, 37, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Prugh. He was arrested by Patrolmen J. E. Craig and George Robinson.

HERO REWARDED

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 14.—John Anhalt, Jr., twelve years old, is $125 richer today as a result of his heroism in flagging an Atlantic City railroad train with a pocket handkerchief a short distance before it reached a fourteen-inch break in the track here. His act saved 300 passengers from possibly serious injury.

The grateful passengers collected a purse of $125 for the boy.

JUNIOR TOWN OPENS AT CHAUTAUQUA ON WEDNESDAY HERE

Junior Town, annual attractive feature of Redpath Chautauqua, will be in charge of Miss Ruth Zimmerman, Massillon, O., this year.

Miss Zimmerman is a graduate of Ohio State University, where she specialized in kindergarten and social welfare work.

Miss Zimmerman, having had experience in directing this type of junior work.

All children between the ages of six and fourteen are invited to take part. The first meeting will be at nine o'clock Wednesday afternoon and will be held at the tent on the Flynn lots, Detroit Blvd. The local association, sponsors of the chautauqua, urges parents to encourage their children to attend these meetings. It is not necessary that the children have any sort of a ticket and no charge will be made for the work in any way.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging.

Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

work will be the selection of a cast and rehearsing for a minstrel show which will be given by the youngsters one afternoon the latter part of chautauqua week. This is a new feature for the children and has been meeting with even greater success along the circuit, of which Xenia is a part, than had been hoped for. There will be an interlocutor and two black faced endmen, eleven minstrels and a large minstrel chorus. With all this good sport, there will be a lesson pertaining to good strength and health which being impressed upon the children in an indirect way it is hoped will stay with them to their betterment as growing citizens of the community.

FACTIONAL FIGHT INTERESTS DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Aug. 14.—Dayton went to the polls today with 41,000 votes registered, an excess of more than 5,000 over preceding primaries. Interest in the fight for the control of the Republican county central committee, is the main feature of local interest.

D. C. Brower, chairman of the Republican campaign committee and former county chairman of the Republican organization, and Judge Harry N. Routzahn, original Hoover leaders in Dayton, are at the head of the opposing factions. A bitter fight has developed.

Experience has shown that fewer than one in each one hundred Building Association borrowers fail in each year in their attempt to pay and keep their homes. More than ninety-nine succeed. This is because of the easy association plan, through which the interest charge regularly diminishes, and larger payments on the principal result.

Also, by this plan, the security of the Association is increased from the start, and the average mortgage is thus presently placed beyond the effect of fluctuating values or financial disturbances.

It was because of this comparative immunity of the association mortgage to abnormal conditions that Dayton's Associations passed, unharmed, through the troubled times of the nineties, the money panic of 1907, the flood of 1913, and the industrial depression of 1921, and why they can continue to meet successfully unusual conditions as they may arise. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FOLLY STICKS FAST—Though thou shouldst bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him.—Prov. 27:22.

REAL CRIME REMEDIES

President Coolidge, in a recent address, made some remarks on crime and respect for law and order that are of interest to every American citizen. He said that the best solution of the crime problem goes back to the home and the early training of the child, and that "if around the nation's fireside respect for authority, reverence for holy things and obedience to parental discipline are taught, the surest foundation for peace will be laid."

We cannot pass laws that will make crime impossible. Efforts in that direction have too often reacted to the advantage of the criminal, by restraining the law-abiding citizen. What we can do is to interpret and expedite our present laws and procedure that, by example, crime will be discouraged. If we add to this, early training that inculcates in the potential citizen and instinctive respect for the rules of society, we will have gone a long way toward reform.

Crime, like weeds, flourishes best where it can most easily resist obliteration and escape punishment.

The majority of criminals come from families that are either too ignorant or slothful to prepare the child for decent citizenship.

NOT ALL BLACK SPLOTCHES

Oil is making possible the education of many fortunate western girls and boys in the fine arts in New York and Europe. Recently the Countess de Taurines was in New York, on the way to France with a pupil and protégé, Miss Barbara Grosvenor Barron, of Kingman, Kansas. The young woman is said to have unusual singing talent, and her parents are going to do their utmost to have it properly cultivated. The Countess has a school in an ancient French castle, and thither goes Barbara for her training.

Oil may rear many a dirty derrick and not a few drab mansions on the Kansas and Oklahoma plains, and occasionally it may leave a splotch here and there in the news, but it is going to produce some second-generation culture, too.

Studios in many quarters of Manhattan house young men and young women from Texas and Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas, whose work in sculpture and painting and singing is being financed by these same oil rigs that are so ugly or so beautiful, depending upon the point of view.

NOT SO WILD

If Gene Tunney and Colonel Lindbergh are typical young Americans, then the worry of an older generation about the wildness of American youth would seem to have little foundation in fact, according to Barron's Financial Weekly. Gene Tunney, says the writer, who is estimated to have accumulated close to $2,000,000 from prize-fighting and its collateral sources of revenue, has like Lindbergh chosen the House of Morgan to see that the substance is not frittered away in unwise investments. The story is that Tunney draws down half of the income leaving the remainder for re-investment.

A great many fishermen would play golf if you could sit on the bank and wait for a golf ball.

The Way of the World

TAKING A PART

We read that at the recent national convention of the Baptist Young People's union prohibition and the presidential campaign were up for discussion. It is a healthy sign that more and more the most important public questions are coming into the forums where young people gather. There is happily coming to be some reaction against the indifference which has been responsible for so much bad government in America. The radio and the improved newspaper are helping to wipe out indifference and to replace it with an informed and active public opinion.

POWER

Notwithstanding the marvels of new inventions—especially the radio and the airplane—we are only at the threshold of vastly more amazing performances. We probably have all heard some talk of the transmission of power by radio. Few, probably, have thought through the possibilities of that kind of power transmission. When it is worked out it will mean that an airplane can remain in the air indefinitely. It could remain aloft for years, the need of fuel aboard having been dispensed with, and the power coming by radio transmission. Enormous new sources of power have been vaguely but certainly suggested by the energy of the atom, which may one day be harnessed.

SCIENCE IS NOT FUNNY

Science is not funny, but some books which pretend to be scientific are funny. A certain author sets out to prove there are three primal races, each springing from a different animal. He lists the Aryan, the Negro, and the Mongolian. He says white folks descended from the chimpanzee, Mongolians or Chinese from the orang-utan, and Negroes from the gorilla. The quick-thinking or at least quick-acting American mind has a passion for classification, for setting things down in order. There is much desire to settle things once for all and do it snappily. In the meantime Roy Chapman Andrews and others are willing to crawl for hours over blinding desert sands to find traces of what man may have been like a million years ago. Other men work for years in laboratories, without notice of fame, for the sake of arriving at the oasis of truth. Wise and patient men do these things, and they do not write funny books.

NEWS COMMENT and VIEWS

The Diary

of a

New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK.—The leading designers of women's clothes are men. Since women primarily dress to please men, that is as it should be. And it also is natural for one of the outstanding designers of men's clothes to be a woman, Louise Brunel.

Mr. Brunel didn't like her husband's clothes, and did things to them to improve their looks. Then she took up designing masculine attire in earnest and carved a career for herself.

It took men to invent a machine to repair silk hose in a hurry, like shoes. First aid stations for women with "runs" are being opened at crowded corners all over the city. The invention with which they are equipped for the repair work is expected to make two brothers rich.

Did you ever have to wait a half hour or more for an order in a New York restaurant and then feelingly give voice to some such wise-crack as, "They're sending to the farm for eggs," or "They are slaughtering a beef especially for us?" Well, you may have been almost right.

New York restaurant supply houses are open day and night, and keep swift messages on hand at all hours. Thousands of small cafes, and larger ones, too, avoid big wastage in food supplies by waiting until meal hour before laying in supplies. Weather and such things affect the size of crowds so much that cafe managers never can estimate accurately how many guests they'll have. They keep only small quantities of perishables on hand. If patronage is small, then there's nothing much to throw away. If it's large, a telephoned order to the supply house will replenish the larder in a hurry.

Incidentally, groceryettes or thimble-order stores, which cater to the folks who buy for only one meal at a time, are increasing in number in New York. The first ones were in Ninth avenue and other havens of the poor, but they are spreading everywhere. All staples, including nationally advertised brands, are put up in small quantities for sale at 5 and 10 cents. Two slices of bacon, one egg, two rolls and two pats of butter, or half a pound of potatoes, one carrot and a starter pound of beef are not unusual orders. The average check is 35 cents.

Some of the regular 5-and-10-cent stores now have grocery departments, and as much of the small, inexpensive packages of food is sold on Fifth avenue as on Delancey street. Delancey street is used to buying in small quantities, so that there is no waste, but Fifth avenue is just learning.

Speaking of food, a friend of mine has something to do with the buying of supplies for Aviator Pryor's south polar expedition. I didn't have any idea—there must be others—that the undertaking had any such magnitude as is indicated by the size of the food supply that is being assembled in New York for the expedition. Among the items are three tons of coffee, two of tinned butter, two of ham, three of bacon, two and a half of candy, one of tobacco, 600,000 cases of eggs. Other items are 8,000 cakes of soap and 1,200 cases of razor blades.

Italian-Americans applying to New York Federal court for the right to change their names, usually pick Valentino as the cognomen they prefer.

None have specified Mussolini as the name they'd like to bear.

MENU HINT

Cold Sliced Meat
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Sliced Tomatoes
Green Apple Pie Milk or Iced Tea
Apples are a year round fruit, but there is nothing quite as good as green applesauce and green apple pie. Make use of the green apples as long as they last. Those that are ripe you will have all winter.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Lyonnaise Potatoes—Take cold boiled potatoes and cut into dice. Heat butter in the frying pan, fry in it one small onion chopped fine, and when it begins to change color put in the potatoes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, stir well and cook until nicely brown. Just before taking up you may, if you like, stir in a tablespoon of minced parsley. Dry by shaking in a hot colander and serve hot.

Suggestions

Those Calories
Everyone is either trying to get fatter or reducing these days. We must, therefore, count our calories to see if we are getting enough and not too much food for our needs. The person who is trying to get thinner should limit on 1,200 or 1,400 calories, while those who are trying to put on flesh must take six or eight hundred more. Each food contains a certain number of calories, so it is important to know just how many there are in the foods we eat in order to count correctly.

There are 100 calories in each of the listed foods, which are uncooked unless otherwise stated.
Buttermilk, one and one-eighth cups; cheese (American), one one-inch cube; cheese (Cottage),

The Stranger for the Undernourished Child
Mrs. L.—The food needs for the undernourished must be sufficient not only to supply his growth and energy, but enough more to make him gain the weight he should have; so he has to eat more than the normal child, and that means more eating! He may have to have two and perhaps three times the amount of food that the normal child needs.

I will give you an outline of the best foundation diet for any child (or adult) as I have it in my book on diet for children.
Best Food Foundation For Each Day For Each Child

PART 1—PROTECTIVE FOODS
1 1-2 pints of milk, at least.
one-half cup; cheese (Neuf-châtel), two and one-half tablespoons; cream (thick), four tablespoons; cream (thin), two tablespoons; eggs, one and one-third; gelatin, two and one-fourth table-spoons; milk (whole) one and one-eighth cups; milk (condensed, unsweetened), four tablespoons; milk (condensed, sweetened), two tablespoons; oysters, about seven-eighths cup or 14 oysters; cleaned salmon, one-third serving; meat (lean), one very small serving (two and one-fourth ounces); fish, one serving.

The amount of the energy foods the child needs will depend upon his age, activities, etc. Remember that he is going to need a lot of good energy foods. However, a large share should come from the ones I have listed. If he has those in sufficient amounts as a basis, they will help supply the vitamins, minerals and proteins as furnish energy.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Angles, Brilliant Colors Beautify Modern Jewelry

When the world was young, the practice of personal adornment already was old. However far back I turn the pages of history, I still find stories of how men and women hung great chains around their necks, bedecked themselves with riches and jewels and all the other vanities which draw the frame around natural beauty.

Jewelry today has a place in personal beauty which no chic woman denies. To be sure, she does not deck herself with the heavy-linked chains which 6,000 years ago were the height of richness and elegance, nor does she twine magical amulets around her white arms. Modern jewelry is inexpensive, in perfect keeping with costumes, and singularly significant of the times we live in. It is strange to note how the old, old jewelry has been fashioned into modern styles, and it is strange to realize how the old shape clings. Only a few years ago, crystal balls swiveling on slender chains and fitted with a tiny perfume censer in their hollow centers, were the dernier cri in Paris.

I wonder how many of the jeweler who sponsored this fashion realized that 600 years before their time those same crystal balls were worn by the women of the Anglo-Saxon tribes. Cunningly hollowed out they were, and within was a charm to protect the wearer from all evils.

Superstitious? Perhaps! Yet only last year unbreakable mirrors were introduced into Paris so that the smart Parisienne might be spared her "seven years' bad luck" when the mirror of her vanity was shattered.

Among my own collections I have some exquisite little round cases, the outside beautiful enameled—sometimes with a miniature painted in everlasting colors on the enamel, sometimes plain, and within the locket, space for powder, perfume or sometimes for snuff!

In the earliest days, jewelry was pure adornment. In the middle ages, it developed its uses. The Borgias and the Medici found infinite value in the box ring—a charming little conceit with a delicate mechanism consisting of a pricking point and a drop of deadly venom.

In modern days, jeweled accessories may be all things. They may be simply the finishing touches to a chic costume, or they may be those charming utility pieces. Slim and square little vanities, lovely in their jewel colorings, are part of every woman's toilette. The modern handbag boasts lipstick so fascinating in color and contour, that the ladies of old would turn green with envy at the sight of them.

The woman of today must be as modern as tomorrow. Art has struck a new note of lines—angles and brilliant colors. I say a "new" note, but I must qualify the statement with a little historical incident. Strange as it may seem to the modernist enthusiast, angles are older than curves. It was Michael Angelo, incensed at being disturbed by a group of artists clamoring for a new idea in architectural decoration, who seized a crayon and drew them in a circle, thus introducing the curve to the delicious joy of the artistic horde. Angles are in, and modern adornment is useful, colorful and smartly straight lined and slim.

Fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

You will, of course, give your child other foods besides these I have listed, but if he has part 1 as the minimum for every day, his needs for protein, mineral elements and vitamins will largely be taken care of; and if the energy foods (part 2) are properly chosen, we can be sure there will be a preponderance of the alkaline—ash foods in the diet.

Analyze your child's diet and see if he is getting sufficient of the protective foods. If not, increase these as well as his energy foods. However, this

Samuel Vauclein, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, once went to James J. Hill to try and sell him some locomotives. Hill said the prices were much too high.

"What ought the price to be?" inquired Vauclein.

"I don't know exactly," replied Hill, "but I know it shouldn't be near as much as you have asked me."

"If you don't know what the price ought to be," suggested Vauclein, "how do you know that mine is too high?"

He then sold the engines to Hill at the price he had first mentioned.

It's always unwise to enter into a controversy with a man until you're sure that you know more about a subject than he does.

When you hear a man make a dogmatic assertion, you can usually make a fool of him by quietly asking how he knows.

REALLY?

The stout old gentleman rushing along the platform, just missed his train, and returned putting and blowing, to be greeted by a porter with the question:

"Missed your train, sir?"

"No," was the reply, "I didn't like the look of it, so I chased it off the platform!"

increasing must be done very gradually. Do not try to do it all at once. Egg yolks can be increased to two or three a day. They can be beaten in the cream for the vegetables, or taken in eggnogs, custards, etc. Egg yolks are rich in the vitamins, phosphorus, iron and fat; and they seldom disagree.

Cod liver oil acts wonderfully. If he is an excess candy and ice cream and rich pastry eater, these, instead of being increased must be decreased—and never allowed between meals. You can increase his milk, unless he is taking so much that he does not have sufficient appetite for the solid foods. Remember that he should have at least three glasses a day, so give him that amount in some form. Cook his cereals in milk, if necessary.

Give him a lunch-morning and mid-afternoon lunch of orange juice preferably—so that he won't have to over-distend his stomach at meal times. No tea or coffee. No growing child should have them.

We have a list of modern books on the care and feeding of children which you should have. The column rules for obtaining material we offer are to enclose two cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for which ten cents in coin, in addition to the self-addressed, stamped envelope are necessary.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed stamped envelope and two cents in coin for each article to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, ten cents in coin with fully a. s. e. must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

NEW YORK.—When Editor William Allen White of the Emory (K.) Gazette, sailing for Europe the other day, announced that he hoped he wouldn't be back until after election, Senator George H. Moses uttered a fervent "Amen."

He may not have uttered it audibly, but he uttered it, if I know anything of the New Hampshire senator, from several years' observation of him.

As a matter of fact, the Republicans' eastern seaboard campaign, Senator Moses has given an excellent imitation of a cat on a hot griddle throughout the entire series of interviews broadcast by Editor White, during the latter's stay in Manhattan.

Making an attack on an opposition candidate, and then partly taking it back, and qualifying it, and apologizing for a good deal of it, is Senator Moses' idea of no way to do in politics.

That's the position Editor White was placed in, following his roast of Al Smith, as a tool of Tammany.

What irritates Moses is that Editor White originally jumped on Al out in his home state of Kansas—which was his own funeral—but subsequently came down to New York—which is Moses' bailiwick—to crawlfish.

Moses is very sensitive to any imported bad management in his territory. He's conscious that he's regarded as a dangerous character himself.

Not that his loyalty's questioned.

He's as "regular" as Editor White—maybe more so, for White's pretty independent, and Moses' Republicanism is as stable as the foundations of his native "Old Granite State."

It's George's good judgment that's considered doubtful, if anything.

The Republican national committee wouldn't admit, any more than Senator Moses would admit that he's sore on Editor White, but politicians all know that the bosses only put the New Hampshire shire solon in charge of the "down east" Hoover campaign because they couldn't get out of it.

Moses has a reputation for cracking amazingly telling jokes on the opposition.

The thing that worries him more cautious fellow partisans is—

He cracks 'em so fast that they're afraid he does it unthinkingly at times—that he'll leave his guard down one of these days—fall for a faint and get one right on the button.

He's a formidable scrapper—one of the most so in public life.

Consequently, when he turned up at Republican headquarters and demanded the management of the G. O. P.'s eastern activities, the committee couldn't see its way clear to turning him down.

It did try to tie him up with a lot of conditions—to pull his punch. It figured that that was better than having him overdo himself.

Moses resented it hotly, and they had to give him a free hand.

At this point along comes Editor White, after a bad fizzle, out in his home Simlow State, and undertakes to explain it in Moses' midst—as if it had happened there.

Is it any wonder that it gets George's goat?

Isn't it bad enough for him to have a reckless reputation of his own to live down, without being required to bear the brunt of breaks made by a brother editor for Moses runs a newspaper, too.

At least this much may be said in favor of French heels: they always keep a girl on her toes.—Louisville Times.

ARE CHILDREN PEOPLE?

SOME PARENTS DON'T CARE

If one has a physical ill one tries to find out what the trouble is. But do we use this method when our children show symptoms of getting beyond control? Do we decide that something is wrong and try to find out just what it is? We have nursery schools, it is true, where a very few children who present "behavior problems" are psychoanalyzed, psychiatrized and otherwise scientifically treated to get their reactions and prescribe for their ailments, but the great majority of parents still want their hands when Bill or Annabelle has tantrums and say, "I don't know what's the matter, but I can't do a thing with that child."

Men and women go out into business life and sometimes find that they are "square pegs in round holes," that work and associates are uncongenial. They suffer and become nervous and irritable in consequence.

KIWANIS BLOW CHANCE TO WIN; YIELD TO HUDSON-ESSEX

Kiwanians blew a ten-run lead and were eventually nosed out by the Hudson-Essex team 16 to 15 in an American League softball game Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

After spotting the last-placers to four runs in the first inning and six more in the second round, Hudson-Essex drew up on even terms with a six-run rally in the second, three runs in the third and one in the fourth.

SNOW HILL GOLFERS COMING WEDNESDAY

The Snow Hill Country Club of Wilmington will meet the Xenia Country Club in an inter-city golf match over the local course Wednesday afternoon. The first four some will tee off promptly at 1:30 p. m.

The match will be the last inter-city affair for Xenia this season. Three weeks ago Wilmington furnished a mild upset by defeating Xenia in a match at Wilmington, something that had never before happened.

Xenia's record in inter-city matches this summer stands at one victory and two defeats. A victory is needed over Wilmington to break even on the season.

Wilmington is expected to bring about twenty-five players for the match.

TIPP CITY QUOT TEAM BEATS XENIA

Tippecanoe City surprised by defeating the Xenia Quoit Club 11 to 7 in a Miami Valley Quoit League match on the Tipp City courts Monday night.

Xenia had defeated Tipp City easily in a match earlier this season on the local courts.

The Xenia match team was far off form, displaying a lack of practice.

The team of Wagner and Sanders won four of the seven games credited to Xenia.

The local club has Eastwood as an opponent in a league match at Dayton next Monday night.

1903—James J. Jeffries, heavyweight champion of the world, defeated Jim Corbett at San Francisco in 10 rounds.

1912—Porky Flynn and Gunboat Smith fought 10-round, no-decision battle, New York.

1919—Babe Ruth made homer No. 17. Also No. 42 in 1920. Also No. 38 in 1926.

1927—Chicago Cubs made clean sweep of series with Cincinnati at Chicago, and left for east leading the league.

The Kiwanis Club again took the lead by tallying one run in the fifth and another in the seventh, but the second-placers won the game with a five-run splash in the last of the seventh, followed by another in the eighth.

Kiwanis sprang a belated rally in the ninth, scoring three runs after two were out, but the spree was cut short with the tying run on second base.

The Hudson-Essex victory reduced the lead of Carroll-Binder Co. to one and one-half games. It marked the eleventh straight setback for Kiwanis.

Leveck pitched for the winners with Adair twirling for the losers. Rotarians meet the Lang Chevrolet Co. in another American League game Tuesday night.

CLAIM XENIA YOUTH CAUGHT IN HOLD-UP

Frederick Strider, 18, Xenia, and Harold Burns, 17, Dayton, are under arrest at Franklin, O., charged with the hold-up of a filling station there last Friday night, according to a telegram received by Acting Police Chief Fred Jones, seeking information on the records of the two youths.

While Burns kept the filling station attendant covered with a revolver, Strider is alleged to have removed $45.27 from the cash register. The pair escaped in an old Ford touring car, bearing a Dayton license, owned by Burns, but was pursued and captured at Miamiburg, O.

Burns gave his age as seventeen, but according to local police, is nearly nineteen. He is on parole from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, O. The parole does not expire for several months. Burns is also said to be on parole from that institution.

ONE for the BOOK

Tim Hurst, the old American League umpire, was a natural wit and a very likeable fellow. This got him by often. He was the sort of chap who could pull the king's whiskers and get away with it.

Years ago Ban Johnson, then president of the American League, got the same idea when he wanted the junior loop—he wanted the time of baseball games shortened.

Ban took his typewriter in hand and wrote all his umpires asking their opinion. He was in earnest in his desire to have a lot of stalling and horseplay cut out of baseball and wanted the opinions of his umpires as they, probably more than any other group connected with the game, could give him pointers on the matter.

In due time he got an answer from Hurst.

The letter was very brief. It ran something like this:

"Dear Mr. Johnson: I think the most practical way to shorten ball games is to cut them to seven innings."

And even Johnson, who didn't care for foolishness, had to smile at that one.

COXEY IS FINED

LORAIN, O., Aug. 14.—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, of Massillon, famed as the leader of Coxey's army, and now a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, faced the election today with $16.20 less than he had yesterday. Coxey paid a fine in Avon Lake Traffic Court last night.

"They used to tell us to move on and now they pinch you when you drive fast enough to keep out of the way," he complained.

MAX CAREY

Max Canarius was born in Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 11, 1890. After a long major league career with the Pittsburgh Pirates he is now with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Max Carey, as he is known in baseball, began his career as a short-stop for South Bend in the Central league in 1909.

Carey originally intended to be a Lutheran minister but his stellar play on the Concordia College baseball nine brought him to the attention of major league scouts and he was persuaded to follow the diamond for a career.

Pittsburgh grabbed Carey in 1911 and put him in the outfield. For the next fifteen years the name of Carey was a great one in the National League.

After trouble with the Pittsburgh management in 1926 Carey was released on waivers and was grabbed by Brooklyn, where he probably will finish his career.

Carey bats either right or left-handed but throws with his right. He stands five feet, 11 1/2 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Ritticisms BY BILL RITT

The Olympic races are nothing to wave an American flag over. Uncle Sam was left knock-kneed at the post and he's still there.

Yankee ankles stuttered themselves into a discordant symphony of defeat.

United States legs were weighed in meters and found wanting. They were sidetracked somewhere in the stretch and then watched the rest of the world go by.

Olympic scenery consisted mainly of an assortment of Canadian heels and British insteps against a background of Finnish toes.

The races looked like any battle during the World War. The Yanks were always chasing somebody.

However, in the other events Uncle Sam's athletes cleaned up like a con man at an Arkansas carnival.

All of which proves you don't need legs to get anywhere.

REPORT NEW GALE MENACES FLORIDA

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 14.—Buffeted by a series of small hurricanes in the past few days, the Florida west coast today took on the aspects of a besieged city.

Its breath hardly recovered from the last sweeping up the northwestern coast today, adding to the toll of damage in private property and public utilities.

Meantime the menace of floods caused several hundred persons living in the lowlands on the west coast to abandon their homes. High tides were reported between St. Petersburg and Tampa.

The flood situation in the Lake Okechobee region was probably the worst in Florida today. There fifty families were reported marooned and destitute, and Red Cross workers were trying to reach them to give aid.

JUVENILE HEARING SET FOR TWO BOYS

Caught while attempting to break into Babb's hardware store, 16 S. Detroit St., early Sunday night, two small colored boys, arrested by police and turned over to Juvenile Court, will be given hearings before Judge S. C. Wright at 1 p. m. Thursday.

They appeared in court accompanied by their parents Monday. The boys confessed that they were trying to break into the store in order to steal a rifle.

They gave their names as Thurman Hudson, 13, 1611 E. Church St., and Daniel Goings, 11, 26 Taylor St. The boys broke a rear window and a passerby who heard the crash of glass, summoned police, who captured the pair in an alley.

ELECTRIC AND GAS INTERESTS MERGED

Following the recent purchase of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. by the Dayton Power and Light Co., the former gas office on S. Detroit St. has been closed and all work transferred to the D. P. and L. Offices.

A short lease remains on the former gas office but the quarters will not be used by the new owners.

After serving the Xenia office of the Dayton Power and Light Co., nineteen years, as cashier, Miss Olive H. Kyle, living St., has been retired by the company. She closed her work at the office last Saturday.

VARE IMPROVES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 14.—The condition of Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, who was stricken with paralysis two weeks ago in his summer home at Chelsea, near here, continues to improve "splendidly," according to Dr. John J. Shaw.

"He is responding to treatment even better than his physicians dared to hope," Mr. Shaw said today.

Farm Notes

LAST YEAR BETTER

Farmers made more money in 1927 than in 1926, it appears from a comparison of the farm returns on 13,859 farms in all parts of the country. The study of the returns has just been completed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. On the 13,859 farms the average net return for 1927 was $1,290 as against $1,133 for 1926.

Gross receipts were larger last year than the year before, and expenses were about the same. The resulting cash balance was higher in 1927 than in 1926.

The average size of the farms reporting in this group for 1927 was 2.5 acres, with an average investment of $15,445. Average gross receipts were $2,505, consisting of $978 from sales of crops, $851 from sales of livestock, $638 from sales of miscellaneous other items.

Average current cash expenses in 1927 totaled $1,457. The biggest item in the expense list was labor, for which an average of $347 was expended. Of the remainder, $283 was spent for livestock, $243 for feed, $64 for fertilizer, $49 for seed, $180 for taxes on farm property, $129 for machinery and tools, and $157 for miscellaneous items.

LARGE CHAUTAUQUA TICKET SALE SHOWN AS PROGRAM NEARS

Mrs. W. L. Dean, who this year is directing the sale and distribution of tickets for the Redpath Chautauqua, reports prospects for a more successful chautauqua week than has been known in Xenia for a number of years.

A number of guarantors, and those who have pledged to take tickets, however, have not as yet taken their tickets. Mrs. Dean wishes to have her books cleared up before chautauqua opens Wednesday.

Reviewing the program which has been selected for Xenia there is much of merit to be found, but there is one number scheduled about which there is more advance interest than any of the others for local people. That number is "Gilbert's Golden Memories". Last year L. E. Gilbert brought to Xenia his "Romany Revelers" company on the Redpath program. It is remembered by most Xenia chautauqua patrons as the outstanding offering of the 1927 program. The "Golden Memories" is heralded as an even better presentation.

The Gilbert company will divide its program into three parts. It will all be in costume and will harken back to previous successful Gilbert organizations. The first "memory," in appropriate vestments, will go back to the "Cathedral Choir". It is also planned to use about twenty local boys in the prologue of this Harold Dews, recent winner of the Marion Talley contest of nation wide scope, will have leading solos in this first "memory." Mr. Dews is an addition to the 1928 company—a baritone of great promise who is said to add much to the Gilbert ensemble.

The second "memory," in evening dress, will recall musical "hits" from recent companies. In this group will be heard several of the songs so popular on the Romany Revelers program. Concluding the bill, the last "memory" will be in costume from the period of about 1860 to the present, the company singing the songs of the day along through the different periods in the nation's history. The Gilbert program will be presented on Saturday, August 18.

It has now been definitely decided to hold chautauqua this year on the Flynn lots on Detroit Blvd.

MRS. EUNICE BALES REMOVED BY DEATH

Mrs. Eunice Haines Bales, 55, pioneer Greene County resident, died at the home of her son, Harley Adams, in Auburn, Ind., Saturday evening. The remains were brought to Xenia Tuesday morning and taken to her home at New Hope. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock with burial in New Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Haines was born and spent practically all her life in the New Hope vicinity. She went to Auburn ten years ago to make her home with her only son, Harley Adams.

She was a graduate of Wilmington College and taught school several years. She was a member of the Quaker Church.

Two grandchildren and several great grandchildren and one brother, Eli Haines,ilmington, with the one son, survive.

NUMBER OF HORSES IN COUNTY DROPS

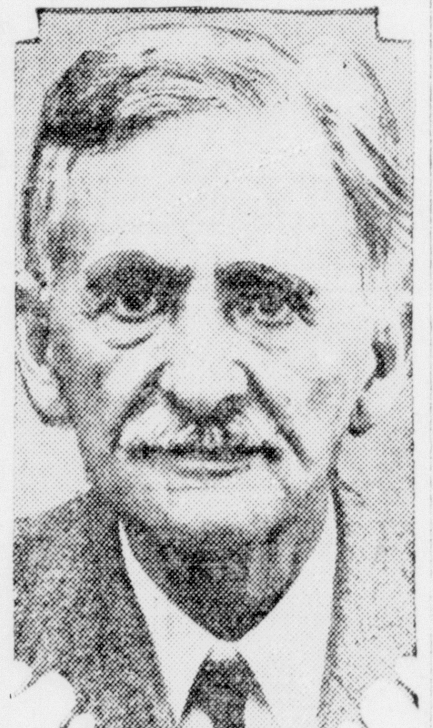

The tractor, truck and automobile have united to drive 269 horses from Greene County farms during the last year, so that at present there are only 6,903 head of horses in the county, according to reliable personal property livestock returns for 1927.

Horses in Greene County have an aggregate value of $366,922, an average of $53 per head, the statistics show.

In 1927 there were 7,172 horses in the county, valued at $388,749, an average of $54.

Only 7,545 individuals made personal property tax returns in 1928, as compared with 7,830 in 1927.

AGED CEDARVILLE RESIDENT IS DEAD

Mrs. Mary Hensel McGulganis, 84, one of Cedarville's oldest residents, passed away Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. M. Harris, at that place.

Mrs. McGulganis suffered a stroke of paralysis two weeks ago. She was the widow of Andrew McGulganis and resided in Cedarville practically all her life. She leaves no near relatives.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the McMillan funeral parlors in charge of the Rev. Robert Kyle, with burial in Massies Creek Cemetery.

HOGS DECREASE IN COUNTY

With 53,191 hogs of all ages on farms at present, having an aggregate value of $126,548, or an average of $8, Greene County still ranks low among other counties of the state as a pork producer.

Livestock statistics for 1928 show the hog population in the county decreased by 2,821 from 1927. The 53,012 hogs in the county last year were valued at $659,370.

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED; JUDGMENT AWARDED IN COURT

Suit for $2,944.72 and foreclosure of mortgaged property has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Home Building and Savings Co. against George Filkins and Emma Filkins. Homer and Bertha Beal, claiming an interest in the property, are named co-defendants. Attorney Harry D. Smith represents the plaintiff.

GIVEN JUDGMENT

The Home Building and Savings Co. has been awarded a judgment for $2,944.72 against Harold W. Dice and others in Common Pleas Court. Foreclosure of mortgaged property was ordered. The question of priority of liens was reserved by the court for further consideration.

AWARDED ALIMONY

In the suit of Mozella Stevens against Golden Stevens in Common Pleas Court, the court has awarded the plaintiff alimony of $5 a week, ruling that the defendant has been guilty of abandoning her and leaving her without means of support.

READ THIS FIRST:

Janet Mary James, eighteen, sweet and clever and good, has an ambition to go on the stage because her mother, who died the night she was born, had been a famous opera star. Janet meets Dr. Ballard Riley, who is known as a woman hater. Ballard takes her up, and Janet gets a lot of fun out of having a date with him. Janet meets Sir Henry Martindale, a rather old gentleman, who becomes interested in her stage career. He takes Janet to meet Mort Goldstein, famous musical revue producer. Mort has her sing and dance, and engages her for a number in his new show. Janet is attending rehearsals.

At the rehearsal she meets Corinne Malory, a tired little chorus girl, broke, who has gone hungry for several days. Janet takes her to lunch, and they become friends. Janet is anxiously waiting for her call to go on the stage at rehearsal.

Frodine Deslys, one of the show girls, takes a dislike to Janet, and they are bitter enemies. Frodine is particularly disagreeable on the opening night of the new show.

Ballard Riley sends Janet a box of flowers on the great night, and Frodine tries to get them.

After the show Ballard Riley takes Janet to a famous night club. Later, Ballard kisses her tenderly at the door, but does not come into the studio. It seems to Janet that he has left her a little abruptly. Janet knows she cares so much for Ballard that nothing else matters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

Fall wended its way into winter, and Broadway was white with snow. Ballard saw Janet two or three times a week.

They dined and went to Sunday night concerts when Janet was not working in the show. Her heart was heavy with uncertainty. Why was he seeing her so much if he did not care for her? And why was he so determined not to show his feelings again?

She had laughed their "petting party" off too purposely. Just to show him it meant nothing to her to park the car and steal a few kisses in the moonlight. Every time she had seen him she had tried to be light hearted and show him how frivolous she could be about things like that.

He was gay, too, but she thought his efforts to appear so a little forced. Day by day the mystery deepened. Did he have someone else? The thought came to her like a shock. Could he be married? But she laughed it off as impossible. Ballard Riley a married man! Nonsense.

The newspapers were generous to Janet. Two or three times a week there was a picture of her, with a clever caption under it. And sometimes a story about her.

A wild story about how she came from Paris and six months before could scarcely speak English.

For Christmas Ballard gave her a tiny watch that hung around her neck. It was shaped like a ball, and studded with tiny diamonds. Janet was breathless with surprise and happiness. She sent Mr. and Mrs. Elmore a big box filled with expensive gifts, and received from them a box of home-made goodies and a little ruby ring.

She could not resist sending Flavia a card. Poor Flavia. She had missed her so. Sir Henry, who had been very devoted to Janet in a fatherly sort of way, told her that Flavia had not been well—that she had been under the care of a doctor and really looked quite ill.

Sympathetic Janet could not bear to think of Flavia being sick. Remembering only her kindness, she sat down and sent her a card with a tender little message.

"I am sorry you are not well, dear. Won't you let bygones be bygones, and let me come to see you?"

Flavia telephoned the next day and invited Janet to her New Year's party. She laughed the Putty incident off, and told her she hadn't seen him since—that she had given him the air, plenty.

Ballard had gone away during the holidays to visit his sister in Florida, and Janet was free to go to Flavia's party. She thought it would be grand fun to be in on one of Flavia's affairs again.

Flavia met her at the door and kissed her tenderly. Janet held her tightly.

"Oh, Flavia, dear, I've missed you so. And have you seen my show?"

She drew her into her boudoir and laughed.

"Have I? I've seen it three times. You are marvelous. If it hadn't been for my darned old silly pride, I'd have called you long ago."

Janet put her arms around Flavia and shook her head. The noise of a party at a Miliarious stage came to their ears.

The newspapers were generous to Janet.

"You silly girl. Really, I told the truth. I didn't expect Putty. Besides, I'm so in love you don't need to worry."

"Janet," Flavia put her arms about her. "I have a little surprise for you—a belated Christmas surprise. I hope you will be pleased."

"Oh!" Janet shook her head negatively. "Now, Flavia, I don't want you to give me anything. Just want to be friends again."

"Oh, it's nothing," Flavia put her hand over her mouth to stifle her protests. "Nothing right now. But listen. You know, I have plenty of money, and not a soul in the world to leave it to."

Suddenly Flavia turned white—but squared her shoulders.

"Janet, dear, I am not going to live long."

Janet gave a sobbing little cry and buried her face on Flavia's shoulder.

The Theater

By C. K.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Personal and confidential:
There's a certain actor who isn't seen very frequently because he is getting too old to play lover roles, who always has been pretty much of a poseur. Interviewed by a feminine writer, who inquired if he was anxious to return to New York, he replied: "Yes, indeed, you see my hawse is whinny-in' foah me."
What's become of the tulle Lillian Gish used to wrap around her neck? Recent pictures showing her visiting various European cities fail to reveal the wisp of goods fluttering about her throat.
Dolores Del Rio confides that she is going to forget all about movies until November. She is sailing for Europe for her first vacation in three years. She is accompanied by her mother and her director, Edwin Carewe.
Just wait until you see "The Outcast," starring Corinne Griffith. We're betting you won't recognize a very much dressed up young woman who happens to be none other than Louise Fazenda. It isn't very often that Louise gets an opportunity in the film to put on "society" clothes.
Jim Tully is going to London to get a series of interviews.
Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin, is considering a vaudeville tour.
George K. Arthur, M-G-M's comedy ace, has been visiting the battlefields of France, especially those on which the Forty-first division, of which he was a member, fought. On the way over he occupied the most expensive suite on the Leviathan.
Harold Lloyd's wife, the former Mildred Davis, has been suffering an attack of pleurisy.

ALLEGED RECKLESS DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION

William Penn, colored, Columbus, O., is being held in the County Jail pending a hearing before Probate Judge S. C. Weight at 9 a. m. Wednesday on a charge of reckless driving in connection with an auto collision on the Columbus Pike Sunday night.

J. W. Riley, Cleveland, O., charging that his sedan was side-swiped and forced off the road into a field by Penn's roadster, filed the affidavit against the Columbus man. Riley's wife was also an occupant of the car.

Nobody was injured in the accident, although both machines were damaged. Penn was traveling east and Riley was driving west.

Penn was taken into custody by O. H. Cornwell, county road patrolman, when he came to Xenia to look after his damaged car.

Arraigned in Probate Court Monday afternoon, Penn pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the County Jail in default of $100 bond.

WELFARE WORKERS MEET IN OCTOBER

Local welfare workers are planning to attend sessions of the Ohio Welfare Conference of 1928, at the Deshler-Wallack Hotel, Columbus, October 8, 9 and 10.

As has been the custom for the past few years, the conference is offering ten different courses of study, including the subjects of case work, mother's pensions, parent-child behavior problems, recreation, health, etc.

Each course consists of five sessions, divided between lectures and discussions. The instructors who have charge of the courses have been invited because of their recognized success in the various fields of social work covered by the course.

Anyone wishing further information may apply to the Social Service League or write Mrs. Mary B. Holsinger, secretary, 277 E. Long St., Columbus, O.

"I AM ENJOYING BETTER HEALTH THAN IN YEARS"

Trebein Resident Can Now Eat Anything He Wants — Brief Treatment of Konjola Relieved Illness of Months

Spreading with rapidity is the glad news of the relief afforded by Konjola to sufferers from the pains and dangers of afflictions of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and from neuritis, rheumatism and nervousness, and the Konjola Man, who is explaining this wonderful compound to scores daily in the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 E. Main St., Xenia, is the recipient of many happy testimonials as to the quick and complete effectiveness of this wonder-working remedy.

MR. W. C. EARLY

"It is too good to be true," joyously exclaimed Mr. W. C. Early, R. F. D. No. 7, Trebein, near Xenia, to the Konjola Man a few days ago. "For several years, my stomach caused me intense pain. There were many foods I could not eat at all, and the few items left caused bloating, gas and shortness of breath. Physicians failed to give relief. I tried no end of medicines but without help, and I was discouraged."

"When I heard of Konjola—although the reports of its success were glowing—I was dubious. I kept on suffering, and finally made up my mind to see if there was any virtue in the new medicine. The result was as delightful as surprising. With the very first bottle, my appetite returned, my stomach resumed its natural activities, bloating and gas disappeared, and I was able to sleep all through the night, something I had not been able to do for months."

"I have gone on with the treatment, and have now taken three bottles of this amazing compound. The result is that I am enjoying health I have not known for years. Truly Konjola has been a life saver for me, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did through hopeless months."

What Konjola did for Mr. Early, it has done for countless others, and you, too, will find relief from suffering, no matter of what duration, if you will just give Konjola the opportunity to restore the afflicted organs; to cleanse your system of the poisons that are bringing misery. The new medicine contains no heart depressing drugs; no ingredients that give momentary relief by deadening the nerves. Konjola reaches the very source of the ailment; its action is quick and permanent. You owe it to yourself to learn all about Konjola now—today. You need not suffer.

The Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, Xenia, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

"DON'T BLAME CARRIER FOR MISSING LETTER"

Veteran City Postman, J. Howard Jones, Retires On Seventy-First Birthday; Finds Work Not Monotonous.

Retirement on pension of John Howard Jones, 237 N. Galloway St., oldest city mail carrier at the Xenia Post Office, became effective on his 71st birthday Tuesday after twenty-five and one-half successive years of service.

It is customary to retire all postal employees on pension when they reach the age of 65, but an exception was made in the case of Mr. Jones, who still retains good health despite his many years of service, and he was granted three extensions of two years each.

The veteran mail carrier is being succeeded by Lloyd Clark, a substitute carrier for the last eight years. Several shifts have been made, however, in the mail routes assigned the carriers.

Mr. Jones was appointed a substitute mail carrier in February, 1903 after having worked about thirty years behind a counter in department stores, and at first covered all of the four city routes at various times. There are now eight routes.

In February, 1914, he became a regular carrier on a route covering the south end of the city and four years ago the present west-end route was assigned to him.

Walking an average of between fourteen and fifteen miles a day while making two general deliveries and three city deliveries daily, Mr. Jones estimates that he has covered approximately 4,125 miles during his career as a mail carrier.

The work of a city carrier is unusually exacting, according to Mr. Jones. Regardless of whether the weather is good or bad, a carrier must follow a certain time schedule and complete his work within eight hours each day. Speed is the requisite today, he declares.

The veteran carrier, however, liked his job, declaring it was not as monotonous as it would appear. He declares that given one hour extra a day, making nine hours in all, he feels capable of ten more years of service.

"Almost everybody along the routes has a good word for the mail carrier when he appears and you meet many people," said Mr. Jones. "Sometimes, however, they become irritable when a letter they are expecting does not arrive."

COULD NOT GET OUT OF BED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Strengthened Her

Elkhart, Ind.—"I had a tired feeling and was unable to get out of bed without the help of my husband. We heard of the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I am still taking it and it sure is a help to me. I can do my work without resting before I am through. I know that if women will give the Vegetable Compound a trial they can overcome those tired and worn-out feelings. I cannot express the happiness I have received and how completely it has made over my home."—Mrs. D. H. Stbert, 1328 Laurel St., Elkhart, Indiana.

J. HOWARD JONES

They blame the carrier. They think he is holding out on them, when as a matter of fact the mailman is as anxious to dispose of all his mail as people are to receive it."

Walking keeps a person healthy, Jones believes. He expects to take things rather easy for a while but does not want to loaf all the time. "I would like to work part-time at some kind of a job, but it will probably be hard for a man of my age to find employment," he predicts.

Not content with tramping fourteen miles every day, Jones has always managed to keep busy around the house in recent years. He does all the work around his home, has a beautiful flower garden which keeps him busy every evening, and a work shop in the basement.

EXAMINATION FOR TEACHERS AUG. 31

The usual special September examination for elementary and high school teachers will not be held this year except for high school teachers who are teaching subjects not within the limits of their majors and minors and not covered by their provisional and state certificates. Superintendent H. C. Aultman announces.

The only elementary examination previous to April, 1929 is August 31. This date has also been fixed for the presentation of credits acquired during the summer. These first must have been evaluated by the state department of education, he announces further.

SHED DAMAGED

Spontaneous combustion is believed to have been the cause of a fire which damaged the roof of a shed at the rear of the residence of George Chambliss, 41 Charles St., at 5:20 p. m. Monday. Damage is estimated at $15. Firemen used chemicals to extinguish the blaze.

ORDINANCE 369

PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS OF THE CITY OF XENIA, OHIO, FOR THE PURPOSE OF THE EXTENSION OF ITS WATER PLANT BY THE CONSTRUCTION OF AERATORS, EXTENSION OF BUILDING AND INCIDENTAL CONNECTIONS, FOR THE PURCHASE OF WATER TO THE CORPORATION AND THE INHABITANTS THEREOF.

WHEREAS, this Commission has requested the City Auditor to issue his certificate as to the estimated life of the property, asset or improvement proposed to be constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to, and the City Auditor has certified to this Commission such estimated life as exceeding five years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as more than five years.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it ordained by the Commission of the City of Xenia, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, in the principal sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), in order to provide a fund for the purpose of the extension of its water works plant by the construction of aerators and the extension of building and incidental connections, for the proper supply of water to the corporation and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one (1) year's interest on said bonds. That such bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes shall not be issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds.

SECTION 2. That bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), and said bonds shall be dated September 1, 1928, and shall bear interest at the rate of five and one-half (5½%) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of September and March of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows: One bond of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), in each of the years September 1, 1930 to September 1, 1933, both inclusive, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

The principal and interest of all of said bonds shall be payable at the office of the City Auditor of the City of Xenia, Ohio.

SECTION 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued; that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the City Auditor. Said bonds shall bear such consecutive numbers as the City Auditor shall determine.

SECTION 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when, and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said City of Xenia, Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall be not less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section 11 of Article XII of the Constitution.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 5. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds, then said bonds not so taken shall be advertised for public sale and sold in the manner provided by law under the direction of the Finance Committee and the Auditor, but not for less than their par value and accrued interest; the bond sale advertisement shall state that any one desiring to do so, may present a bid or bids for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore fixed, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent, or multiples thereof; the proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount of said bonds issued for interest, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale and the amount of said bonds issued for interest shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 6. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 9th day of August, 1928.

THOUSANDS FLEE FROM FLOODS

WATER FROM BROKEN DAM MENACES VAST FRONTIER OF INDIA

Villages Deserted As Planes And Fires Warn Natives

SIMLA, India, Aug. 14.—The mighty flood which is raging down the Indus Valley from the broken ice dam in the Shyok River on top of the Karakoram mountains in India threatened today to cut off the entire frontier region from the rest of the country.

The torrent was rushing towards Skardo and is expected to reach the Attock railway bridge spanning the Indus tonight. Engineers are working feverishly to strengthen the bridge as its collapse would isolate the frontier region.

Villages below the flood level are evacuated.

Frightened villagers, bearing as much of their household goods as they can carry upon their backs, jam the roadways leading from the danger zone. A stream of refugees is pouring into Peshawar.

Elaborate precautionary measures have been taken by the police and soldiers to get the people out of the district in the path of the flood. Royal air force aviators swept down the Kabul Valley warning villages along the river.

Some aviators kept pace with the flood notifying the authorities of its progress.

BOMBAY, INDIA, Aug. 14.—A mighty chain of signal fires, stretching 100 miles along the ridges of the Karakoram mountain range to Leh in the Himalayas, today gave warning to thousands of persons to flee from their homes to avoid death in the rushing torrent from the broken Shyok River ice dam.

When the dam gave way 700,000 tons of water swept with a roar of thunder down the Indus valley from the mountains, spreading desolation in its path. As this gigantic tidal wave crashed its way toward the Kashmir plains, municipal and military authorities united in measures to warn the villages in the path of the torrent.

The dam was upon the crest of a mountain wall, 17,000 feet high, which gave it a tremendous impetus.

An ice barrier had dammed an artificial lake blocking the Shyok River on the top of the Karakoram mountains for miles.

In addition to the flaming beacons couriers were sent posthaste by airplane and railway train to warn the people in the lower Indus Valley. For some time the ice barrier had been growing weaker and the collapse did not take the authorities entirely by surprise.

The Glacier Lake was in an isolated position, being 140 miles from the nearest telegraph line.

POWER MONOPOLY TARGET OF NORRIS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 14.—There is just one predominant issue in the present state and national campaigns—curbing the grip the power monopoly has on electrical distribution—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, declared in a speech here last night.

Senator Norris isumping the state for LaFollette Progressive candidates. He declared that the people have not yet fully realized the full importance of the public utility question.

Senator Norris characterized as amazing that neither of the two national political platforms deals with the "power trust menace."

REPORT TRIBES OF ARABIA ON WARPATH

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Dispatches from Jerusalem state that the fanatical Wahabi tribes of Arabia are about to go on the warpath against British outposts in Mesopotamia. It is reported that the tribes have the moral if not the active support of Ibn Saud, king of the Hedjaz, and extraordinary precautions are being taken by the British authorities in the near east to prevent a serious uprising.

LANCASTER, O., Aug. 14.—Oscar Smith of Utica, near here, is suffering with two fractured jaws and minus eight front teeth, today as a result of being hit in the face by a baseball bat which slipped from the hands of a batsman during a game here yesterday. His face also was badly cut, twelve stitches being required to close the wound. Smith was a spectator.

TEACHER'S SLAYER CONFESSES

ABANDON HOPE FOR FOUR LOST WHEN SMALL BOAT CAPSIZED

WATCH HILL, R. I., Aug. 14.—Four college youths, missing since their sailboat capsized between the mainland and Fisher's Island, N. Y., were given up for lost today by searchers who had used airplanes and small craft in the hunt and who had been joined by the veteran boats of the coastguard.

The lone survivor of the sound tragedy, John M. Colchan, of Chestnut Hills, Pa., picked up unconscious by George Adams, a Noank, Conn., fisherman, had recovered sufficiently in Westerly Hospital to tell the dramatic story of how the little vessel capsized when the anchor was put overboard in a choppy sea, how efforts were made to right her, how he got to the keel of the overturned craft, how Trowbridge Cottrell, one of the amateur sailors, suddenly disappeared, how John McIlvain, of Ardmore, Pa., son of the owner of the boat, started to swim ashore and was never seen again, and how he did not remember what became of the others—Joseph Scates, of Louisville, Ky., and Lloyd Bankson, of Philadelphia.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Convinced that he has won the support of farm leaders from various parts of the country because of his stand on farm relief, Governor Al Smith today was to put the final touches on the address he will deliver one week from tomorrow in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although the ten farm experts with whom he conferred for five hours at the executive mansion yesterday, left for their homes without announcing that they would publicly support him, the governor feels, according to his advisers, that eventually a majority of them will throw their strength to the Democratic ticket.

Six of the ten farm experts who came here for a round table discussion of the agricultural problem with Smith are rated as Republicans. Two of them, Earl C. Smith, of Illinois, and Frank W. Murphy, of Minnesota, were delegates to the Republican national convention.

Smith is president of the Illinois Agricultural Association with a membership of 60,000. Murphy is chairman of the legislative committee of the corn belt committee of twenty-two.

According to reports at the capitol today, two or three of the farm leaders made a futile attempt to induce Smith to take a decided stand in favor of the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which was vetoed by President Coolidge.

The governor is said to have bluntly told them that he subscribed to the broad principle of controlling surplus farm commodity and assessing the cost on the group to be benefited, but that he would not take any definite stand now as to the details of such a plan.

Both Smith and the leaders insisted that farm relief and not politics had been discussed at their five hour conference in the executive mansion. The chief reason why the governor invited the experts to Albany, according to his close friends, was to make an open bid for the farm vote of the middle west.

YOUNG GIRL KILLED
CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Seventeen-year-old Thelma Cox, of Cleveland, is dead today, having been instantly killed last night when the automobile in which she was riding overturned after striking a hole in the road. Charles Thomas, 23, of Ravenna, driver of the car, suffered bruises, while the victim's sister, Mary, also sustained minor injuries.

The "offer" made by the railroad, it is accepted, Whitney said, "would have discriminated against our western conductors and trainmen, as it would have established rates of pay lower than those in effect on the eastern and southern roads."

"Elimination of the working rules which the railroads asked us to abolish would have offset the increase they offered us and, consequently, would have lowered the standards of pay in comparison with the roads in other sections of the country."

TUNNEY PREPARES FOR EUROPEAN TRIP

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Having successfully eluded reporters by borrowing a pair of "cheaters" and slipping into New York on an early train, Gene Tunney today was quietly completing preparations for the start of his European trip on Thursday.

Last evening the retired heavyweight champion and fiance of Polly Lauder, $50,000 heiress, was feted at an engagement dinner tendered by members of the Madison Square Garden Corporation at the home of James I. Bush, the banker. The ex-marine who relinquished the blue ribbon of the prize ring for the blue book of the social world declared that he had made his last public appearance.

SMITH BELIEVES HE HAS CAPTURED FARM LEADERS' SUPPORT

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—"Audacity," declared Mrs. Fannie Cavender, 54, Toledo, "is too mild a term"—and grimly surveyed a severely scratched arm.

Mrs. Cavender's wrath is justified, police opine, for a thief selected the Ohio penitentiary—of all places—to pilfer the contents of her pocketbook.

As Mrs. Cavender waited in her car outside the "big house" wherein a party of friends were making a sightseeing trip, a man approached the machine, demanded money, grabbed a $5 bill from her purse and ran—after inflicting a deep scratch on the woman's arm.

A police search for the man proved futile.

LOWDEN PASSIVELY ENDORSES HOOVER'S FARM RELIEF STAND

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The comment of former Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, on the acceptance speech of political leaders to be viewed by political leaders to day as a sort of passive endorsement of the Republican presidential nominee.

Lowden, recognized leader of the middle western farm belt, has remained in virtual retirement since the national convention at Kansas City—a convention that went against Lowden and most of his treasured plans for farm relief.

His announcement, made through John G. Oglesby, former lieutenant governor and now head of the farm bureau committee of the Republican national committee, broke a conspicuous political silence and put the former Illinois governor on record.

"I am much impressed by Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech as a whole," was the meat of the Lowden announcement, it continued: "With reference to agriculture, his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most economic problem in our nation today is very heartening."

"I have since, I think a thousand times, that a general acknowledgment that the problem exists would be half the battle. If there had been such recognition years ago, the agricultural situation would be vastly different today."

"Mr. Hoover's aspirations to bring the farm population up to economic equality with other groups has my heartiest approval. I think, however, it will be found practically that his proposed stabilization corporation can only attain the object which he hopes to accomplish if the cost to the corporation of stabilizing the price of any commodity be distributed over the commodity involved and not taken from the public treasury."

"In my judgment, Mr. Hoover's statement fails to give assurance of the means that will be adequate to secure the ends promised. He promises higher tariffs, wayward improvement and a farm board to set up stabilization corporations financed by government loans. His last proposal was the basis of the crisp bill, which congress rejected in the last session and which failed to secure farm support."

"Mr. Hoover says the tariff is the foundation of farm relief and promises to use his office and influence to give the farmer the full benefit of our historic tariff policy."

"For five years, western farmers have demanded not only that agricultural tariffs be adequate, but that a way be found to make such tariffs effective on that portion of our surplus crops consumed at home. On the latter, Mr. Hoover is silent. This question has been too much in the forefront of farm relief discussion to be ignored. Farmers will want this question answered before they go to the polls in November."

HOLYOKE, Mass., Aug. 14.—Circling high above the roaring torrents of mighty Niagara, Air pilot M. J. Jack Ayres, of Flagstaff, Ariz., "popped the question" by pencilled note to Miss Edna C. Herder, a local young clubwoman. By pencilled note, she accepted.

The couple was on a flight from Buffalo to Northampton in a plane that Ayres was bringing from Colorado Springs to Springfield.

Formal announcement of the engagement was made public today by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Herder, parents of Miss Herder.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 14.—Clad only in loin cloth of buckskin, their naked bodies glistening with mineral red, streaked with black and white, four bands of Hopi Indians at sun-up today left the sacred "Kiva" of a sun-parched plateau in northern Arizona.

Blessed by the tribal priests, they set forth, carrying a plenteous supply of sacred meal. One band journeyed north, one south, one east and another west.

NEGRO SHOE SHINER ADMITS MURDER IN SUBURB OF CHICAGO

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 14.—Extra precautions were being taken today to prevent mob violence from snuffing out the life of David Shanks, the Chicago negro, who confessed late yesterday to the murder of Miss Jennie Meta Constance, 42-year-old Peoria school teacher and summer student at Northwestern University.

Evanson's "worst crime in a decade" became solved when detectives traced a wrist watch, which had been torn from the school teacher's arm after the attack, to Shanks. He was working in a shoe shining parlor when arrested. Confronted with the evidence, Shanks said: "Yes, I did it."

He was rushed to police headquarters, where, before citizens generally knew of his arrest, his confession was taken down in detail. He was then hid away in an outlying district as a precaution against lynching.

The watch was trailed in this manner. When it was definitely established that Miss Constance had worn a watch the night of her disappearance, police notified all jewelers to be on the lookout.

Early yesterday a white boy took a lady's wrist watch to a Devon Ave. jeweler to have it reinitialed. It bore the letters J. M. C., representing Jennie Meta Constance. The jeweler got in touch with police and the watch was identified as that of Miss Constance.

Miss Constance, head of the English department at Bradley Polytechnical Institute at Peoria, was killed to death a week ago to night as she was returning to her rooming house from Northwestern University campus library.

Her body was found behind a hedge surrounding the palatial home of Attorney George R. Peaks, Evanston millionaire. She had been clubbed to death with a piece of lead pipe, and her body violated. Finding of her empty purse and other evidence indicated her attacker had also robbed her.

In his own confession, Shanks said he went to Evanston from Chicago last Tuesday evening with the intention of waylaying and robbing some woman. He denied that he had attacked his victim.

HARDING MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION SUED

MARION, O., Aug. 14.—Naming the Harding Memorial Association as defendant, a suit was on file here today on behalf of Jean De Wolfe and George Neely DeWolfe, grand children of the late Florence Harding, President Harding's widow, in which they seek to recover certain household articles left in Mrs. Harding's estate.

Harry J. Merchant, trustee for the DeWolfs, filed the petition which asks the court to construe the will under which Mrs. Harding's estate was disposed of. The petition declares the articles include table lamps, glassware, jewelry and other items not in the list of household belongings specifically bequeathed to the memorial association in Mrs. Harding's will.

POLICEMAN DIES

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—The body of Charles C. Clayton, 59, Ohio State University policeman, was to be taken to his home in Lewis Center today. Clayton dropped dead on the campus last night. He had been suffering dropsy and hardening of the arteries. He had held the position since 1922 and was widely known among students at the university.

HOPI BUCKS SEEK SNAKES FOR SACRED DANCE

They were the snake hunters, who for the next four days will hunt and gather hundreds of rattlers and other poisonous vipers, to be used in the weird ceremonial dances which each year attract increasing hundreds of tourists and students of Indian customs, to the scene of the celebration.

To all the preliminary ceremonies, including the snake hunt, the white man is barred. None may enter the sacred precincts of the "Kiva" or ceremonial chamber unless he be member of the tribe, but the snake dance, the climactic feature is by tradition a public function.

Holding the reptiles between their teeth the holy dancers go through a series of strange contortions and maneuverings, swaying and twisting their painted bodies to the rhythm of tom-toms. As they squirm and step about, they chant in strident tones, varied by a walling monotone, the prayer which is a supplication to the "sky father" for copious rain and bounteous harvest.

Fair Politician

Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, daughter of Nicholas Murray Butler, who is vice-chairman of the Republican State Committee in New York is organizing the women for Hoover and Curtis in what is expected to be the most hotly contested territory in the presidential campaign.

BUSINESS METHODS WILL HELP FARMERS IS HOOVER'S CLAIM

THINKS Co-operatives Would Improve Marketing

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 14.—The injection of "big business" methods into the conduct of American agriculture will be Herbert Hoover's first contribution to the relief of the farm problem, should he be elected president, it was learned here today.

Convinced that agriculture has suffered unnecessary losses through slack business methods, Hoover will seek to organize American farmers into a series of gigantic co-operatives, one for each major crop, in an effort to eliminate waste, improve marketing conditions, reduce cost of production and distribution and increase farm profits. He is certain, it was learned, that proper business regulation of agriculture will go far toward eradicating agricultural depression.

The Hoover farm relief program however will include recommendation to congress for the creation of a farm board, backed by at least $250,000,000 of government funds but regulated and controlled by farmers themselves, for the handling of surplus crops. In his acceptance speech, he also pledged the development of inland waterways to reduce transportation costs, and the equalization of tariff rates on farm products to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by industry.

"The Republican nominee declared the 'greatest problem' of the farmer 'how to devise' some plan, along co-operative lines that will enable him to protect his surplus." In a talk to newspaper correspondents about his speech, Hoover told of an incident in the New York fruit market, which illustrated the necessity for injecting better business methods into the agricultural situation.

On one day, he said, 5,000 cars of fruit reached New York City from California and 5,000 more from Florida, although the city's demand totaled but 1,000 cars. As a result, he added, the New York market was glutted and prices collapsed. In an effort to save their fruit, he continued, the shippers sent several thousand cars up and down the Atlantic coast, destroying the markets in all nearby cities. One car, he added, travelled 17,000 miles and when it finally halted, the fruit was dumped into a sewer.

Hoover has become convinced that this sort of distribution and waste caused the farmers millions of dollars in losses every year. He will attempt to eliminate it by getting the farmers to organize nationwide co-operatives to handle market, distribution and production problems. If the producers of an entire crop could discuss their problems—just as furniture-makers, steel manufacturers, oil producers and other business men do—Hoover believes half of their losses could be eliminated. At least, he will give this method of relief a test, providing the farmers agree, as the government itself would only participate in an advisory capacity.

The nominee also believes that this proposal for a farmer-controlled, federally-financed farm board will solve the surplus crop problem. He told of the crash of cotton prices a year ago and declared it was his opinion that the cotton crop could have been stabilized if 11,000,000 bales had been withdrawn from the market. He will ask congress, should he be elected, to provide funds for just such a situation.

MARION WILL HAVE 104 ACRE AIRPORT

MARION, O., Aug. 14.—Another milestone on the road of aviation progress in Ohio was believed marked today following the action of city council last night in passing an ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $7,000 of a tract of 104 acres, two miles west of this city, as a site for an airport.

Experts say the site is ideally adapted for the airport.

VOTERS MAKE THEIR CHOICE AFTER WARM PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

Prohibition And Public Utility Fights Feature Election

COLUMBUS, C., Aug. 14.—Ohio voters today are casting their ballots at statewide Democratic and Republican primary elections. Nominations are being made at the polls today for state, congressional, legislative, judicial and county offices. The nominees will make up the state tickets which will be submitted to Buckeye state voters at the November election.

With interest in the race for gubernatorial nominations at fever pitch, election experts today voiced the opinion that between 900,000 and 1,000,000 Ohioans will vote at today's primaries. Approximately 700,000 votes were cast at Ohio's primary election two years ago. With fair weather forecast for the day, state election officials expressed belief that from 600,000 to 650,000 Republicans and from 250,000 to 300,000 Democrats will go to the polls throughout Ohio today.

Nominations will be made today for governor, U. S. senator (two to be chosen by each political party), lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, judge of the Ohio supreme court (two to be selected by each party), congress, state senator, state representative, appellate, common pleas and probate court judges, clerk of common pleas courts, sheriff, county commissioners, county treasurers, supervisors, coroners and county prosecutor.

Ohio voters will also elect members of Democratic and Republican state and county central committees today.

The wet-dry issue and the question of public utility regulation featured the pre-primary campaign of candidates for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination. In the contest between Davey and Bloom, for the Democratic nomination for governor, the wet-dry issue was prominent. In addition to pleas for farm relief, the prohibition issue was injected into the contest of a number of candidates for the U. S. senatorial tag.

Fever heat in connection with the prohibition issue was registered soon after the issuance by the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union of its "white list" and by Superintendent L. J. Moore of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League of a "sample ballot" list and ballot endorsed certain candidates as "satisfactory" and withheld endorsement from others.

The W. C. T. U. list and the Anti-Saloon League ballot endorsed Davey and Bloom. Although the league's ballot limited its endorsement among the Republican gubernatorial candidates to Cooper, the W. C. T. U. list approved the candidacies of Beggs, Sweeney and Cooper.

Friends of Beggs, members of the Anti-Saloon League, took vigorous exception publicly to the league's failure to accord its official endorsement to Beggs. Supporters of Bloom urged the Anti-Saloon League to annul its endorsement of Davey who was accused of having "double-crossed" the league and with having approved the candidacy of Gov. Al Smith for president.

Throughout his campaign, Attorney General Turner launched attacks upon the Anti-Saloon League and utility lobbyists and urged the repeal of the Pence act which relates to rates collected by public utilities from their Ohio customers. Turner charged that an improper alliance had existed between utility interests and members of the Anti-Saloon League with a view to controlling activities by the Ohio legislature.

SEEK KIDNAPER AND YOUNG GIRL VICTIM

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Aug. 14.—Prospects of the posting of a reward for the apprehension of Governor C. Hardin, 37, of Chillicothe, alleged to have abducted Opal Gowen, 14-year-old, schoolgirl, loomed today.

Opal was picking blackberries along the road near her home here yesterday when Hardin kidnapped her, according to reports, and it was believed probable today that relatives of the missing girl will offer a reward.

Future Home of Tunney and Bride?

OFFICIAL CAMPAIGN PICTURES OF CANDIDATES

These photographs have been selected as the official campaign pictures of Herbert Hoover and Senator Charles Curtis and will be used for all presidential campaign purposes.

Husband-Slayer Is Sorry Now

Mrs. Frances Kirkwood, who slew her handsome, young husband with a carving knife in a fit of jealous rage, occupies the same cell in the Long Island City jail that Ruth Snyder lived in before she went to the death house at Sing Sing. She's sorry now, she says. Top right, Dana Wallace, Ruth Snyder's lawyer, who has been engaged to defend Mrs. Kirkwood; below, the veterinarian-husband treating a "patient" in his office.

JUST CAN'T DOWN A GOOD HOUSE

The lower story completely wrecked, the side of the lower floor fallen away, two automobiles all but buried beneath an avalanche of rocks and dirt that fell in when the lower story collapsed, this Los Angeles, Cal., house, nevertheless, was not damaged in its upper stories and remains standing apparently as firmly as when the lower story was in place to support it. The props seen below were put there by firemen who feared the weakened structure might collapse.

FLYING OFFICER PICKS FIELD FOR HOME-COMING AIR PARADE

Major Jacob Fickel, commanding officer at Wright Field, was scheduled to arrive in Xenia Tuesday for the purpose of inspecting a tract of land north of Shawnee Park, in the hope it will prove suitable as a landing place for a fleet of planes which will furnish an "aerial parade" during the Greene County Home-Coming celebration the latter part of this month.

HEAVY PRIMARY VOTE BEING RECORDED IN GREENE COUNTY

Greene County was recording one of the largest, if not the greatest, primary votes in its history at Tuesday's election.

With fine weather prevailing and enough state and local contests to arouse more interest than usual, election board officials looked for a record vote.

DEMOCRATS GIVEN $50,000 BY DU PONT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Democratic national headquarters today received a check for $50,000 from Pierre S. Du Pont, chairman of the board of the General Motors Corporation, who recently declared his support of Governor Smith.

The contribution is the largest received to date by the Smith campaign managers and is one of the largest political contributions ever recorded in any campaign.

Mr. Du Pont, who is a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared in announcing his support of Smith that the governor's open advocacy of modification of the Volstead act was his principle reason for abandoning the Republican party and throwing his support to the Democratic candidate.

PASSENGERS TAKEN FROM GROUND SHIP

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14.—The Munson liner Munamar is still aground on the reef off great Abaco Island, Bahamas, despite the combined efforts of several tugs to release it from the position in which it got stuck during a gale early Sunday.

The 75 passengers aboard the vessel, enroute from Miami to New York, have been safely removed and taken to Nassau.

MAYOR'S COURT

PAIR ARRESTED

Alleged to have been fighting at the home of Leslie Hedgepath, colored, E. Main St., Monday night, Frederick Moore and Albert Dickey, both colored, were arrested by Patrolmen Fred Jones and Charles Thompson.

Moore, whom police say was also arrested last August 4, was fined $15 and costs for intoxication and disorderly conduct by Mayor John W. Prugh Tuesday morning. He pleaded guilty.

Dickey pleaded not guilty to similar charges and will be given a hearing before Mayor Prugh Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. He is being held at Police Headquarters.

HERO REWARDED

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 14.—John Anhalt, Jr., twelve years old, is $125 richer today as a result of his heroism in flagging an Atlantic City railroad train with a pocket handkerchief a short distance before it reached a fourteen-inch break in the track here. His act saved 300 passengers from possibly serious injury.

The grateful passengers collected a purse of $125 for the boy.

JUNIOR TOWN OPENS AT CHAUTAUQUA ON WEDNESDAY HERE

Junior Town, annual attractive feature of Redpath Chautauqua, will be in charge of Miss Ruth Zimmerman, Massillon, O., this year.

Miss Zimmerman is a graduate of Ohio State University, where she specialized in kindergarten and social welfare work. Miss Eula Custis of Xenia has consented to assist Miss Zimmerman, having had experience in directing this type of junior work.

All children between the ages of six and fourteen are invited to take part. The first meeting will be at nine o'clock Wednesday afternoon and will be held at the tent on the Flynn lots, Detroit Blvd. The local association, sponsors of the chautauqua, urges parents to encourage their children to attend these meetings. It is not necessary that the children have any sort of a ticket and no charge will be made for the work in any way. An important part of the junior work will be the selection of a cast and rehearsing for a minstrel show which will be given by the youngsters one afternoon the latter part of chautauqua week. This is a new feature for the children and has been meeting with even greater success along the circuit, of which Xenia is a part, than had been hoped for. There will be an interlocutor and two black face endmen, eleven minstrels and a large minstrel chorus. With all this good sport, there will be a lesson pertaining to good strength and health which being impressed upon the children in an indirect way it is hoped will stay with them to their betterment as growing citizens of the community.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging.

Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

FACTIONAL FIGHT INTERESTS DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Aug. 14.—Dayton went to the polls today with 41,000 votes registered, an excess of more than 5,000 over preceding primaries. Interest in the fight for the control of the Republican county central committee, is the main feature of local interest.

D. C. Brower, chairman of the Republican campaign committee and former county chairman of the Republican organization, and Judge Harry N. Routzahn, original Hoover leaders in Dayton, are at the head of the opposing factions. A bitter fight has developed.

"The Home of Thrift"

Experience has shown that fewer than one in each one hundred Building Association borrowers fail in each year in their attempt to pay and keep their homes. More than ninety-nine succeed. This is because of the easy association plan, through which the interest charge regularly diminishes, and larger payments on the principal result.

Also, by this plan, the security of the Association is increased from the start, and the average mortgage is thus presently placed beyond the effect of fluctuating values or financial disturbances.

It was because of this comparative immunity of the association mortgage to abnormal conditions that Dayton's Associations passed, unharmed, through the troubled times of the nineties, the money panic of 1907, the flood of 1913, and the industrial depression of 1921, and why they can continue to meet successfully unusual conditions as they may arise. Don't trade your association deposit for something about which you may know much less!

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FOLLY STICKS FAST—Though thou shouldst bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him.—Prov. 27:22.

REAL CRIME REMEDIES

President Coolidge, in a recent address, made some remarks on crime and respect for law and order that are of interest to every American citizen. He said that the best solution of the crime problem goes back to the home and the early training of the child, and that "if around the nation's fireside respect for authority, reverence for holy things and obedience to parental discipline are taught, the surest foundation for peace will be laid."

We cannot pass laws that will make crime impossible. Efforts in that direction have too often reacted to the advantage of the criminal, by restraining the law-abiding citizen. What we can do is to interpret and expedite our present laws and procedure that, by example, crime will be discouraged. If we add to this, early training that inculcates in the potential citizen and instinctive respect for the rules of society, we will have gone a long way toward reform.

Crime, like weeds, flourishes best where it can most easily resist obliteration and escape punishment.

The majority of criminals come from families that are either too ignorant or slothful to prepare the child for decent citizenship.

NOT ALL BLACK SPOTTCHES

Oil is making possible the education of many fortunate western girls and boys in the fine arts in New York and Europe. Recently the Countess de Taurines was in New York, on the way to France with a pupil and protegee, Miss Barbara Grosvenor Barron, of Kingman, Kansas. The young woman is said to have unusual singing talent, and her parents are going to do their utmost to have it properly cultivated. The Countess has a school in an ancient French castle, and thither goes Barbara for her training.

Oil may rear many a dirty derrick and not a few drab mansions on the Kansas and Oklahoma plains, and occasionally it may leave a splotch here and there in the news, but it is going to produce some second-generation culture, too.

Studies in many quarters of Manhattan house young men and young women from Texas and Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas, whose work in sculpture and painting and singing is being financed by these same oil rigs that are so ugly or so beautiful, depending upon the point of view.

NOT SO WILD

If Gene Tunney and Colonel Lindbergh are typical young Americans, then the worry of an older generation about the wildness of American youth would seem to have little foundation in fact, according to Barron's Financial Weekly. Gene Tunney, says the writer, who is estimated to have accumulated close to $2,000,000 from prize-fighting and its collateral sources of revenue, has like Lindbergh chosen the House of Morgan to see that the substance is not frittered away in unwise investments. The story is that Tunney draws down half of the income leaving the remainder for re-investment.

A great many fishermen would play golf if you could sit on the bank and wait for a golf ball.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

TAKING A PART

We read that at the recent national convention of the Baptist Young People's union prohibition and the presidential campaign were up for discussion. It is a healthy sign that more and more the most important public questions are coming into the forums where young people gather. There is happily coming to be some reaction against the indifference which has been responsible for so much bad government in America. The radio and the improved newspaper are helping to wipe out indifference and to replace it with an informed and active public opinion.

POWER

Notwithstanding the marvels of new inventions—especially the radio and the airplane—we are only at the threshold of vastly more amazing performances. We probably have all heard some talk of the transmission of power by radio. Few, probably, have thought through the possibilities of that kind of power transmission. When it is worked out it will mean that an airplane can remain in the air indefinitely. It could remain aloft for years, the need of fuel aboard having been dispensed with, and the power coming by radio transmission. Enormous new sources of power have been vaguely but certainly suggested by the energy of the atom, which may one day be harnessed.

SCIENCE IS NOT FUNNY

Science is not funny, but some books which pretend to be scientific are funny. A certain author sets out to prove there are three primal races, each springing from a different animal. He lists the Aryan, the Negro, and the Mongolian. He says white folks descended from the chimpanzee, Mongolians or Chinese from the orang-utan, and Negroes from the gorilla. The quick-thinking or at least quick-acting American mind has a passion for classification, for setting things down in order. There is much desire to settle things once for all and do it snappily. In the meantime Roy Chapman Andrews and others are willing to crawl for hours over blinding desert sands to find traces of what man may have been like a million years ago. Other men work for years in laboratories, without notice of fame, for the sake of arriving at the oasis of truth. Wise and patient men do these things, and they do not write funny books.

TELLING 'EM

The Diary of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK.—The leading designers of women's clothes are men. Since women primarily dress to please men, that is as it should be. And it also is natural for one of the outstanding designers of men's clothes to be a woman, Louise Brunet.

Mrs. Brunet didn't like her husband's clothes, and did things to them to improve their looks. Then she took up designing masculine attire in earnest and carved a career for herself.

It took men to invent a machine to repair silk hose in a hurry, like shoes. First aid stations for women with "runs" are being opened at crowded corners all over the city. The invention with which they are equipped for the repair work is expected to make two brothers rich.

Did you ever have to wait a half hour or more for an order in a New York restaurant and then feelingly give voice to some such wise-crack as, "They're sending to the farm for eggs," or "They are slaughtering a beef especially for us?" Well, you may have been almost right.

New York restaurant supply houses are open day and night, and keep swift messages on hand at all hours. Thousands of small cafes, and larger ones, too, avoid big wastage in food supplies by waiting until meal hour before laying in supplies. Weather and such things affect the size of crowds so much that cafe managers never can estimate accurately how many guests they'll have. They keep only small quantities of perishables on hand. If patronage is small, then there's nothing much to throw away; if it's large, a telephoned order to the supply house will replenish the larder in a hurry.

Incidentally, groceryettes or thimble-order stores, which cater to the folks who buy for only one meal at a time, are increasing in number in New York. The first ones were in Ninth avenue and other havens of the poor, but they are spreading everywhere. All staples, including nationally advertised brands, are put up in small quantities for sale at 5 and 10 cents. Two slices of bacon, one egg, two rolls and two pats of butter; or half a pound of potatoes, one carrot and a quarter pound of beef are not unusual orders. The average check is 35 cents.

Some of the regular 5-and-10-cent stores now have grocery departments, and as much of the small, inexpensive packages of foods is sold on Fifth avenue as on Delancey street. Delancey street is used to buying in small quantities, so that there is no waste, but Fifth avenue is just learning.

Speaking of food, a friend of mine has something to do with the buying of supplies for Admiral Byrd's south polar expedition. I didn't have any idea—there must be others—that the undertaking had any such magnitude as is indicated by the size of the food supply that is being assembled in New York for the expedition. Among the items are three tons of coffee, two of tinned butter, two of ham, three of bacon, two and a half of candy, one of tobacco, 600,000 cases of eggs. Other items are 8,000 cases of soap and 1,200 cases of razor blades.

Italian-Americans applying to New York Federal court for the right to change their names, usually pick Valentino as the cognomen they prefer.

None have specified Mussolini as the name they'd like to bear.

Household Hints

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
Cold Sliced Meat
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Sliced Tomatoes
Green Apple Pie Milk or Iced Tea
Apples are a year 'round fruit, but there is nothing quite as good as green applesauce and green apple pie. Make use of the green apples as long as they last. Those that are ripe will have all winter.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Lyonnaise Potatoes—Take cold boiled potatoes and cut into dice. Heat butter in the frying pan, fry in it one small onion chopped fine, and when it begins to change color put in the potatoes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, stir well and cook until nicely brown. Just before taking up you may, if you like, stir in a tablespoon of minced parsley. Dry by shaking in a hot colander and serve hot.

Suggestions
Those Calories
Everyone is either trying to get fatter or reducing these days. We must, therefore, count our calories to see if we are getting enough and not too much food for our needs. The person who is trying to get thinner should live on 1,200 or 1,400 calories, while those who are trying to put on flesh must take six or eight hundred more. Each food contains a certain number of calories, so it is important to know just how many there are in the foods we eat in order to count correctly. There are 100 calories in each of the listed foods, which are uncooked unless otherwise stated.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Angles, Brilliant Colors Beautify Modern Jewelry

When the world was young, the practice of personal adornment already was old. However far back I turn the pages of history, I still find stories of how men and women hung great chains around their necks, bedecked themselves with riches and jewels and all the other vanities which draw the frame around natural beauty.

Jewelry today has a place in personal beauty which no chic woman denies. To be sure, she does not deck herself with the heavy-linked chains which 6,000 years ago were the height of richness and elegance, nor does she twine magical amulets around her white arms. Modern jewelry is inexpensive, in perfect keeping with costumes, and singularly significant of the times we live in.

It is strange to note how the old, old jewelry has been fashioned into modern styles, and it is stranger still to realize how the old shape clings. Only a few years ago, crystal balls swinging on slender chains and fitted with a tiny perfume censer in their hollow centers, were le denier cri in Paris.

I wonder how many of the jewelers who sponsored this fair realized that 500 years before their time those same crystal balls were worn by the women of the Anglo-Saxon tribes. Cunningly hollowed out they were, and with a was a charm to protect the wearer from all evils.

Superstitions? Perhaps! Yet only last year unbreakable mirrors were introduced into Paris so that the smart Parisienne might be spared her "seven years' bad luck" when the mirror of her vanity was shattered.

Among my own collections, I have some exquisite little round cases, the outside beautiful enameled—sometimes with a miniature coloring, in everlasting colors on the enamel, sometimes plain, and within the locket, space for powder, perfume or sometimes for snuff!

In the earliest days, jewelry was pure adornment. In the middle ages, it developed its uses. The Borgia and the Medici found infinite value in the box ring—a charming little conceit with a delicate mechanism consisting of a pricking point and a drop of deadly venom.

In modern days, jeweled accessories may be all things. They may be simply the finishing touches to a chic costume, or they may be those charming utility pieces. Slim and square little vanities, lovely in their jewel colorings, are part of every woman's toilette. The modern handbag boasts lipstick so fascinating in color and contour, that the ladies of old would turn green with envy at the sight of them.

The woman of today must be as modern as tomorrow. Art has struck a new note of lines—angles and brilliant colors.

I say a "new" note, but I must qualify the statement with a little historical incident. Strange as it may seem to the modernist enthusiast, angles are older than curves. It was Michael Angelo, incensed at being disturbed by a group of artists clamoring for a new idea in architectural decoration, who seized a crayon and drew them a circle, thus introducing the curve to the delicious joy of the artistic horde. Angles are in, and modern adornment is useful, colorful and smartly straight lined and slim.

Diet and Health

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish Proverb.

The Diet for the Undernourished Child

Mrs. L.—The good needs for the undernourished child are sufficient not only to supply his growth and energy needs, but enough more to make him gain the weight he should have; so he has to eat more than the normal child, and that means some eating! He may have to have two and perhaps three times the amount of food that the normal child needs.

I will give you an outline of the best foundation diet for any child (or adult) as I have it in my book on diet for children. Best Food Foundation For Each Day For Each Child (Also best for each adult)

PART 1—PROTECTIVE FOODS
1-2 pints of milk, at least, one-half cup; cheese (Neuf-châtel), two and one-half table-spoons; cream (thin), four table-spoons; eggs, one and one-third; gelatin, two and one-fourth table-spoons; milk (whole), five-eighths cup; milk (skim), one and one-eighth cups; milk (condensed, unsweetened), four table-spoons; milk (condensed, sweetened), two table-spoons; oysters, about seven-eighths cup or 14 oysters; canned salmon, one-third cup; meat (lean), one very small serving (two and one-fourth ounces); fish, one serving.

1 full cupful of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables). Part of them raw.

1 full cupful of fruit, part fresh if possible.

1 to 2 ounces high protein food (flesh foods, eggs, cheese.)

PART 2—ENERGY FOODS
Cereals, including whole grain breads, rice, potatoes macaroni and similar foods; simple desserts.

Fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts. You will, of course, give your child other foods besides these I have listed, but if he has part 1 as the minimum for every day, his needs for protein, mineral elements and vitamins will largely be taken care of; and if the energy foods (part 2) are properly chosen, we can be sure there will be a preponderance of the alkaline—ash foods in the diet. The amount of the energy foods the child needs will depend upon his age, activities, etc. Remember that he is going to need a lot of good energy foods. However, a large share should come from the ones I have listed. If he has those in sufficient amounts as a basis, they will help supply the vitamins, minerals and proteins as furnish energy. Analyze your child's diet and see if he is getting sufficient of the protective foods. If not, increase these as well as his energy foods. However, this

Samuel Vaucain, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, once went to James J. Hill to try and sell him some locomotives. Hill said the prices were much too high.

"What ought the price to be?" inquired Vaucain.

"I don't know exactly," replied Hill, "but I know it shouldn't be near as much as you have asked me."

"If you don't know what the price ought to be," suggested Vaucain, "how do you know that mine is too high?"

He then sold the engines to Hill at the price he had first mentioned.

It's always unwise to enter into a controversy with a man until you're sure that you know more about a subject than he does.

When you hear a man make a dogmatic assertion, you can usually make a fool of him by quietly asking how he knows.

REALLY?

The stout old gentleman rushing along the platform, just missed his train, and returned puffing and blowing, to be greeted by a porter with the question:

"Missed your train, sir?"

"No," was the reply, "I didn't like the look of it, so I chased it off the platform!"

Increasing must be done very gradually. Do not try to do it all at once. Egg yolks can be increased to two or three a day. They can be beaten in the cream sauce for the vegetables, or taken in egg-nogs, custards, etc. Egg yolks are rich in the vitamins, phosphorus, iron and fat; and they seldom disagree in some cases.

Cod liver oil acts wonderfully. If he is an excess candy and ice cream and rich pastry eater, these, instead of being increased must be decreased—and never allowed between meals. You can increase his milk, unless he is taking so much that he does not have sufficient appetite for the solid foods. Remember that he should have at least three glasses a day, so give him that amount in some form. Cook his cereals in milk, if necessary.

Give him a mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunch—of orange juice, preferably—so that he won't have to over-distend his stomach at meal times. No tea or coffee. No growing child should have them.

We have a list of modern books on the care and feeding of children which you should have. The column rules for obtaining material we offer are to enclose two cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for all articles except the reducing and gaining pamphlet, for which ten cents in coin, in addition to the self-addressed, stamped envelope are necessary.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed stamped envelope and two cents in coin for each article to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, ten cents in coin with fully a. s. e. must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters in care of this paper.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

NEW YORK.—When Editor William Allen White of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, sailing for Europe the other day, announced that he hoped he wouldn't be back until after election, Senator George H. Moses uttered a fervent "Amen."

He may not have uttered it audibly, but he uttered it, if I know anything of the New Hampshire senator, from several years' observation of him.

As a matter of fact the Republicans' eastern seaboard campaign, Senator Moses has given an excellent imitation of a cat on a hot griddle throughout the entire series of interviews broadcast by Editor White, during the latter's stay in Manhattan.

Making an attack on an opposition candidate, and then partly taking it back, and qualifying it, and apologizing for a good deal of it, is Senator Moses' idea of no way to do in politics.

That's the position Editor White was placed in, following his roast of Al Smith, as a tool of Tammany.

What irritates Moses is that Editor White originally jumped on Al out in his home state of Kansas—which was his own funeral—but subsequently came down to New York—which is Moses' bailiwick—to crawfish.

Moses is very sensitive to any imported bad management is his territory. He's conscious that he's regarded as a dangerous character him.

Not that his loyalty's questioned. He's as "regular" as Editor White—maybe more so, for White's pretty independent, and Moses' Republicanism is as stable as the foundations of his native "Old Grand State."

It's George's good judgment that's considered doubtful, if anything. The Republican national committee wouldn't admit, any more than Senator Moses would admit that he's sore on Editor White, but politicians all know that the bosses only put the New Hampshire solon in charge of the "down east" Hoover campaign because they couldn't get out of it.

Moses has a reputation for cracking amazingly telling jokes on the opposition.

The thing that worries his more cautious fellow partisans is—

He cracks 'em so fast that they're afraid he does it unthinkingly at times—that he'll leave his guard down one of these days—fall for a feint and get one right on the button.

He's a formidable scrapper—one of the most so in public life.

Consequently, when he turned up at Republican headquarters and demanded the management of the G. O. P.'s eastern activities, the committee couldn't see its way clear to turning him down.

It did try to tie him up with a lot of conditions—to pull his punch. It figured that that was better than having him overdo himself.

Moses resented it hotly, and they had to give him a free hand.

At this point along comes Editor White, after a bad fizzle, out in his home Sinfower State, and undertakes to explain it in Moses' midst—as if it had happened there.

Is it any wonder that it gets George's goat?

Isn't it bad enough for him to have a reckless reputation of his own to live down, without being required to bear the brunt of breaks made by a brother editor for Moses runs a newspaper, too.

At least this much may be said in favor of French heels: they always keep a girl on her toes.—Louisville Times.

ARE CHILDREN PEOPLE?

SOME PARENTS DON'T CARE

If one has a physical ill one tries to find out what the trouble is. But do we use this method when our children show symptoms of getting beyond control? Do we decide that something is wrong and try to find out just what it is? We have nursery schools, it is true, where a few children who present "behavior problems" are psychoanalyzed, psychiatrized and otherwise scientifically treated to get their reactions and prescribe for their ailments, but the great majority of parents still bring their hands when bill or Anne has tantrums and say "I don't know what's the matter, but I can't do a thing with that child."

Men and women go out into business life and sometimes find that they are "square pegs in round holes," that work and associates are un congenial. They suffer and become nervous and irritable in consequence. Children meet those same conditions and cannot adjust themselves, so they play "hooky" from school. Instead of trying to find out the cause of their rebellion we are apt to punish them and tell them they must never do it again. We might at least look into the matter and try to help the child to adjust himself or change his environment.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I have a boy nearly seven years old, by my first marriage. He was very good for a short time, but now is getting terrible. When he went from kindergarten to first grade he stayed on the street until 10 o'clock and then came home and said he did not want to go to school. My husband is very good to him and we have a good home, but he does not mind him or me, lies and talks back to us and is very disobedient. Dear Mrs. Lee, please tell me what to do. Do you think I should put him in a home? "A BROKEN HEARTED MOTHER."

I would not put him in a home or school unless I was convinced he would be happier and better trained there. First thing I would do is visit the school and talk to the teachers and try to find out what turned him against it. Also find out about his playmates. Sometimes another child will have an undue influence. Assure him of your love and interest in his problems and try to show him that disobedience and lying will only make his problems multiply. He may not understand all you say, but will much. You are training him to be a useful member of society, you know, and the earlier he adjusts himself to his surroundings the better. Get some books on child training from your library and try to learn how other mothers handle like situations.

Peter's Adventure

Foe or Friend?

"It seemed as if it was going to be a case of 'Out of the nest into the cat's jaws' with us, didn't it wife?" asked Bobolink.

"As I said before, there wife and I were out upon the sand watching the Night Watchman fly off to his perch in some distant tree-top when we heard a noise that was half-way between a boom and a rattle. It sounded very queer and we turned around quickly.

"Standing almost knee-deep in the water was a bird that looked like the Night Heron—as well as we were able to tell from what we had seen of the cannibal in the dark. This fellow was not very large—just about the size of a duck I should say, and his legs were short but upon his head he wore a magnificent plume of jetty black feathers that were so long they hung almost to the middle of his back when he lifted up his head—and he was lifting up his head when we first caught sight of him for he was in the act of devouring a fish. It was half way in his beak when first we saw him.

"In quicker time than it takes to tell it, wife and I had spread our wings and flown on a high clump of wire grass that grew upon the bank. We could watch him from there and if he started towards us we would make a quick escape, hopping from grass to grass. We were sure he could not catch us. The fellow had seen us, however, and now he called out:

"'Hi there! What are you two birds afraid of? Don't fly off like that!'

"We Bobolinks had seen too much of Night Heron to be deceived by a bird that looked so much like him, and wife kept urging me to be cautious—just as if I hadn't intended to be, anyhow. So I called:

"'We have our own good reason for not staying near you, my fine fellow. We have just spent the night hiding from the Night Watchman and you resemble him greatly. I must say we do not trust you!'

"Spent the night hiding from the Night Watchman!" exclaimed the fellow, looking at us in amazement. "How did you ever live up to the story? You must be very clever little birds. That cousin of mine is a great hunter. I never would have believed that any stranger roaming about

"WE HAVE OUR OWN GOOD REASON FOR NOT STAYING NEAR YOU, MY FINE FELLOW!" the night could have managed to keep out of his clutches. But then, why do you fear me? I am not Night Heron, you know. Everything I do—I do in the light. My deeds are all open and aboveboard. I am only a Bobolink."

"Did you say that you were Night Heron's cousin? Then you must have some of his traits!" declared I.

"And didn't we see you swallow a fish?" chirped wife. "Of course you may be friendly, all right but wouldn't we be foolish to have escaped from the bill of Night Heron only to land in the beak of a Bobolink? Thanks just the same, we will stay where we are. But you might tell us why you are called Bobolink? I never heard of such a queer name!"

KIWANIS BLOW CHANCE TO WIN; YIELD TO HUDSON-ESSEX

Kiwanians blew a ten-run lead and were eventually no-hit by the Hudson-Essex team 16 to 15 in an American League softball game Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

After spotting the last-placers to four runs in the first inning and six more in the second round, Hudson-Essex drew up on even terms with a six-run rally in the second, three runs in the third and one in the fourth.

SNOW HILL GOLFERS COMING WEDNESDAY

The Snow Hill Country Club of Wilmington will meet the Xenia Country Club in an inter-city golf match over the local course Wednesday afternoon. The first four some will tee off promptly at 1:30 p. m.

The match will be the last inter-city affair for Xenia this season. Three weeks ago Wilmington furnished a mild upset by defeating Xenia in a match at Wilmington, something that had never before happened.

Xenia's record in inter-city matches this summer stands at one victory and two defeats. A victory is needed over Wilmington to break even on the season.

Wilmington is expected to bring about twenty-five players for the match.

TIPP CITY QUOT TEAM BEATS XENIA

Tippecanoe City surprised by defeating the Xenia Quoit Club 11 to 7 in a Miami Valley Quoit League match on the Tipp City courts Monday night.

Xenia had defeated Tipp City easily in a match earlier this season on the local courts.

The Xenia match team was far off form, displaying a lack of practice.

The team of Wagner and Soderstrom won four of the seven games credited to Xenia.

The local club has Eastwood as an opponent in a league match at Dayton next Monday night.

Personalities IN SPORT

MAX CAREY

Max Canarius was born in Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 11, 1890. After a long major league career with the Pittsburgh Pirates he is now with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Max Carey, as he is known in baseball, began his career as a shortstop for South Bend in the Central league in 1909.

Carey originally intended to be a Lutheran minister but his stellar play on the Concordia College baseball nine brought him to the attention of major league scouts and he was persuaded to follow the diamond for a career.

Pittsburgh grabbed Carey in 1911 and put him in the outfield. For the next fifteen years the name of Carey was a great one in the National league.

After trouble with the Pittsburgh management in 1926 Carey was released on waivers and was grabbed by Brooklyn, where he probably will finish out his career. Carey bats either right or left-handed but throws with his right.

He stands five feet, 11 1/2 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Ritticisms BY BILL RITT

The Olympic races are nothing to wave an American flag over. Uncle Sam was left knock-kneed at the post and he's still there.

Yankee ankles stuttered themselves into a discordant symphony of defeat.

United States jugs were weighed in meters and found wanting. They were sidetracked somewhere in the stretch and then watched the rest of the world go by.

Olympic scenery consisted mainly of an assortment of Canadian heels and British insteps against a background of Finnish toes.

The races looked like any battle during the World War. The Yanks were always chasing somebody.

However, in the other events Uncle Sam's athletes cleaned up like a con man at an Arkansas carnival.

All of which proves you don't need legs to get anywhere.

REPORT NEW GALE MENACES FLORIDA

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 14.—Buffeted by a series of small hurricanes in the past few days, the Florida west coast today took on the aspects of a besieged city.

Its breath hardly recovered from the last storm, a new gale was reported sweeping up the northwestern coast today, adding to the toll of damage in private property and public utilities.

Meantime the menace of floods caused several hundred persons living in the lowlands on the west coast to abandon their homes. High tides were reported between St. Petersburg and Tampa.

The flood situation in the Lake Okechobee region was probably the worst in Florida today. There fifty families were reported marooned, and destitute, and Red Cross workers were trying to reach them to give aid.

CLAIM XENIA YOUTH CAUGHT IN HOLD-UP

Frederick Strider, 18, Xenia, and Harold Burns, 17, Dayton, are under arrest at Franklin, O., charged with the hold-up of a filling station there last Friday night, according to a telegram received by Acting Police Chief Fred Jones, seeking information on the records of the two youths.

While Burns kept the filling station attendant covered with a revolver, Strider is alleged to have removed $45.27 from the cash register. The pair escaped in an old Ford touring car, bearing a Dayton license, owned by Burns, was pursued and captured at Miamisburg, O.

Strider gave his age as seventeen, but according to local police, is nearly nineteen. He is on parole from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, O. The parole does not expire for several months. Burns is also said to be on parole from that institution.

ONE for the BOOK

Tim Hurst, the old American League umpire, was a natural wit and a very likeable fellow. This got him by often. He was the sort of chap who could pull the sort of whisks and get away with it.

Years ago Stan Johnson, then president of the American League, got the same idea now current in the junior loop—he wanted the time of baseball games shortened.

Tim took his typewriter in hand and wrote all his umpires asking their opinion. He was earnest in his desire to have a lot of stalling and horseplay cut out of baseball and wanted the opinions of his umpires as they, probably more than any other group connected with the game, could give him pointers on the matter.

In due time he got an answer from Hurst.

The letter was very brief. It ran something like this:

"Dear Mr. Johnson: I think the most practical way to shorten ball games is to cut them to seven innings."

And even Johnson, who didn't care for foolishness, had to smile at that one.

He used to tell us to move on and now they pinch you when you drive fast enough to keep out of the way," he complained.

JUVENILE HEARING SET FOR TWO BOYS

Caught while attempting to break into Babb's hardware store, 16 S. Detroit St., early Sunday night, two small colored boys, arrested by police and turned over to Juvenile Court, will be given hearings before Judge S. C. Wright at 1 p. m. Thursday.

They appeared in court accompanied by their parents Monday. The boys confessed that they were trying to break into the store in order to steal a rifle.

They gave their names as Thurman Hudson, 13, 1611 E. Church St., and Daniel Goings, 11, 26 Taylor St. The boys broke a rear window and a passerby who heard the crash of glass, summoned police, who captured the pair in an alley.

ELECTRIC AND GAS INTERESTS MERGED

Following the recent purchase of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., by the Dayton Power and Light Co., the former gas office on S. Detroit St., has been closed and all work transferred to the D. P. and L. Offices. A short lease remains on the former gas office but the quarters will not be used by the new owners.

After serving the Xenia office of the Dayton Power and Light Co., nineteen years, as cashier, Miss Olive H. Kyle, living at S. 11th St., has been retired by the company. She closed her work at the office last Saturday.

Farm Notes

LAST YEAR BETTER

Farmers made more money in 1927 than in 1926, it appears from a comparison of the farm returns on 13,859 farms in all parts of the country. The study of the returns has just been completed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. On the 13,859 farms the average net return for 1927 was $1,290 as against $1,133 for 1926.

Gross receipts were larger last year than the year before, and expenses were about the same. The resulting cash balance was higher in 1927 than in 1926.

The average size of the farms reporting in this group for 1927 was 275 acres, with an average investment of $15,445.

Average gross receipts were $2,505, consisting of $978 from sales of crops, $351 from sales of livestock, $638 from sales of live stock products, and $538 from miscellaneous other items.

Average current cash expenses in 1927 totaled $1,457. The biggest item in the expense list was labor, for which an average of $397 was expended. Of the remainder, $238 was spent for livestock, $243 for feed, $64 for fertilizer, $49 for seed, $189 for taxes on farm property, $129 for machinery and tools, and $157 for miscellaneous items.

LARGE CHAUTAUQUA TICKET SALE SHOWN AS PROGRAM NEARS

Mrs. W. L. Dean, who this year is directing the sale and distribution of tickets for the Redpath Chautauqua, reports prospects for a more successful chautauqua week than has been known in Xenia for a number of years.

A number of guarantors, and those who have pledged to take tickets, however, have not as yet taken their tickets. Mrs. Dean wishes to have her books cleared up before chautauqua opens Wednesday.

Reviewing the program which has been selected for Xenia there is much of merit to be found, but there is one number scheduled about which there is more adverse interest than any of the others for local people. That number is "Golden Memories".

Last year L. E. Gilbert brought to Xenia his "Romany Revelers" company on the Redpath program. It is remembered by most Xenia chautauqua patrons as the outstanding offering of the 1927 program. The "Golden Memories" is heralded as an even better presentation.

The Gilbert company will divide its program into three parts. It will all be in costume and will harken back to previous successful Gilbert organizations. The first "memory," in appropriate vestments, will go back to the "Cathedral Choir". It is also planned to use about twenty local boys in the prologue of this. Harold Dewis, recent winner of the Marion Talley contest of nation wide scope, will have leading solos in this first "memory".

Mr. Dewis is an addition to the 1928 company—a baritone of great promise who is said to add much to the Gilbert ensemble.

The second "memory," in even dress, will recall musical "hits" from recent companies. In this group will be heard several of the songs so popular on the Romany Revelers program. Concluding the bill, the last "memory" will be in costume from the period of about 1850 to the present, the company singing the songs of the day along through the different periods in the nation's history. The Gilbert program will be presented on Saturday, August 18.

It has now been definitely decided to hold chautauqua this year on the Flynn lots on Detroit Blvd.

FORECLOSURE SUIT FILED; JUDGMENT AWARDED IN COURT

Suit for $2,944.72 and foreclosure of mortgaged property has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Home Building and Savings Co. against George Filkins and Emma Filkins, Homer and Bertha Beal, claiming an interest in the property, are named co-defendants. Attorney Harry D. Smith represents the plaintiff.

The Home Building and Savings Co. has been awarded a judgment for $2,506.33 against Harold W. Dice and others in Common Pleas Court. Foreclosure of mortgaged property was ordered. The question of priority of liens was reserved by the court for further consideration.

In the suit of Mozella Stevens against Golden Stevens in Common Pleas Court, the court has awarded the plaintiff alimony of $5 a week, ruling that the defendant has been guilty of abandoning her and leaving her without means of support.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Personal and confidential: There's a certain actor who isn't seen very frequently because he is getting too old to play lover roles, who always has been pretty much of a poseur. Interviewed by a feminine writer, who inquired if he was anxious to return to New York, he replied: "Yes, indeed, you see my hawse is whinny-in' foah me."

What's become of the tulle Lillian Gish used to wrap around her neck? Recent pictures showing her visiting various European cities fail to reveal the wisp of goods fluttering about her throat.

Dolores Del Rio confides that she is going to forget all about movies until November. She is sailing for Europe for her first vacation in three years. She is accompanied by her mother and her director, Edwin Carewe.

Just wait until you see "The Outcast," starring Corinne Griffith. We're betting you won't recognize a very much dressed up young woman who happens to be none other than Louise Fazenda. It isn't very often that Louise gets an opportunity in the film to put on "sassy" clothes.

Jim Tully is going to London to get a series of interviews.

ALLEGED RECKLESS DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION

William Penn, colored, Columbus, O., is being held in the County Jail pending a hearing before Probate Judge S. C. Wright at 9 a. m. Wednesday on a charge of reckless driving in connection with an auto collision on the Columbus Pike Sunday night.

J. W. Riley, Cleveland, O., charging that his sedan was side-swiped and forced off the road into a field by Penn's roadster, filed the affidavit against the Columbus man. Riley's wife was also an occupant of the car.

Nobody was injured in the accident, although both machines were damaged. Penn was traveling east and Riley was driving west.

Penn was taken into custody by O. H. Cornwell, county road patrolman, when he came to Xenia to look after his damaged car.

Arraigned in Probate Court Monday afternoon, Penn pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the County Jail in default of $100 bond.

WELFARE WORKERS MEET IN OCTOBER

Local welfare workers are planning to attend sessions of the Ohio Welfare Conference of 1928, at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, Columbus, October 8, 9 and 10.

As has been the custom for the past few years, the conference is offering ten different courses of study, including the subjects of case work, mother's pensions, parent-child behavior problems, recreation, health, etc.

Each course consists of five sessions, divided between lectures and discussions. The instructors who have charge of the courses have been invited because of their recognized success in the various fields of social work covered by the course.

Anyone wishing further information may apply to the Social Service League or write Mrs. Mary B. Holsinger, secretary, 277 E. Long St., Columbus, O.

"I AM ENJOYING BETTER HEALTH THAN IN YEARS"

Trebein Resident Can Now Eat Anything He Wants — Brief Treatment of Konjola Relieved Illness of Months

Spreading with rapidity is the glad news of the relief afforded by Konjola to sufferers from the pains and dangers of afflictions of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and from neuritis, rheumatism and nervousness, and the Konjola Man, who is explaining this wonderful compound to scores daily in the Galaher Drug Store, 23 E. Main St., Xenia, is the recipient of many happy testimonials as to the quick and complete effectiveness of this wonder-working remedy.

"It is too good to be true," joyously exclaimed Mr. W. C. Early, R. F. D. No. 7, Trebein, near Xenia, to the Konjola Man a few days ago. "For several years, my stomach caused me intense pain. There were many foods I could not eat at all, and the few items left caused bloating, gas and shortness of breath. Physicians failed to give relief. I tried no end of medicines but without help, and I was discouraged."

"When I heard of Konjola—although the reports of its success were glowing—I was dubious. I kept on suffering, and finally made up my mind to see if there was any virtue in the new medicine. The result was as delightful as surprising. With the very first bottle, my appetite returned, my stomach resumed its natural activities, bloating and gas disappeared, and I was able to sleep all through the night, something I had not been able to do for months."

"I have gone on with the treatment, and have now taken three bottles of this amazing compound. The result is that I am enjoying health I have not known for years. Truly Konjola has been a life saver for me, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did through hopeless months."

What Konjola did for Mr. Early, it has done for countless others, and you, too, will find relief from suffering, no matter of what duration, if you will just give Konjola the opportunity to restore the afflicted organs; to cleanse your system of the poisons that are bringing misery. The new medicine contains no heart depressing drugs; no ingredients that give momentary relief by deadening the nerves. Konjola reaches the very source of the ailment; its action is quick and permanent. You owe it to yourself to learn all about Konjola now—today. You need not suffer.

The Konjola Man is at the Galaher Drug Store, Xenia, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

"DON'T BLAME CARRIER FOR MISSING LETTER"

Veteran City Postman, J. Howard Jones, Retires On Seventy-First Birthday; Finds Work Not Monotonous.

Retirement on pension of John Howard Jones, 237 N. Galloway St., oldest city mail carrier at the Xenia Post Office, became effective on his 71st birthday Tuesday after twenty-five and one-half successive years of service.

It is customary to retire all postal employees on pension when they reach the age of 65, but an exception was made in the case of Mr. Jones, who still retains good health despite his many years of service, and he was granted three extensions of two years each.

The veteran mail carrier is being succeeded by Lloyd Clark, a substitute carrier for the last eight years. Several shifts have been made, however, in the mail routes assigned the carriers.

Mr. Jones was appointed a substitute mail carrier in February, 1903 after having worked about thirty years behind a counter in department stores, and at first covered all of the four city routes at various times. There are now eight routes.

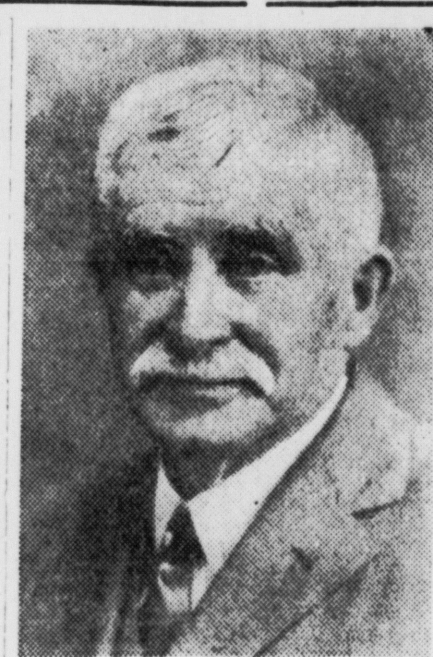

In February, 1914, he became a regular carrier on a route covering the south end of the city and four routes ago the present west-end route was assigned to him.

Walking an average of between fourteen and fifteen miles a day while making two general deliveries and three city deliveries daily, Mr. Jones estimates that he has covered approximately 4,125 miles during his career as a mail carrier.

The work of a city carrier is unusually exacting, according to Mr. Jones. Regardless of whether the weather is good or bad, a carrier must follow a certain time schedule and complete his work within eight hours each day. Speed is the requisite today, he declares.

The veteran carrier, however, liked his job, declaring it was not as monotonous as it would appear. He declares that given one hour extra a day, making nine hours in all, he feels capable of ten more years of service.

"Almost everybody along the routes has a good word for the mail carrier when he appears and you meet many people," said Mr. Jones. "Sometimes, however, they become irritable when a letter they are expecting does not arrive."

J. HOWARD JONES

They blame the carrier. They think he is holding out on them, when as a matter of fact the mailman is as anxious to dispose of all his mail as people are to receive it.

Walking keeps a person healthy, Jones believes. He expects to take things rather easy for a while but does not want to loaf all the time.

"I would like to work part-time at some kind of a job, but it will probably be hard for a man of my age to find employment," he predicts.

Not content with tramping fourteen miles every day, Jones has always managed to keep busy around the house in recent years. He does all the work around his home, has a beautiful flower garden which keeps him busy every evening, and a work shop in the basement.

EXAMINATION FOR TEACHERS AUG. 31

The usual special September examination for elementary and high school teachers will not be held this year except for high school teachers who are teaching subjects not within the limits of their majors and minors and not covered by their provisional and state certificates. Superintendent H. C. Aultman announces.

The only elementary examination previous to April, 1929 is August 31. This date has also been fixed for the presentation of credits acquired during the summer. These first must have been evaluated by the state department of education, he announces further.

SHED DAMAGED

Spontaneous combustion is believed to have been the cause of a fire which damaged the roof of a shed at the rear of the residence of George Chambliss, 41 Charles St., at 5:20 p. m. Monday. Damage is estimated at $15. Firemen used chemicals to extinguish the blaze.

ORDINANCE 369

PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS OF THE CITY OF XENIA, OHIO, FOR THE PURPOSE OF THE EXTENSION OF ITS WATER PLANT BY THE CONSTRUCTION OF AERATORS, EXTENSION OF BUILDING AND INCIDENTAL CONNECTIONS, FOR THE PROPER SUPPLY OF WATER TO THE CORPORATION AND THE INHABITANTS THEREOF.

WHEREAS, this Commission has requested the City Auditor to issue his certificate as to the estimated life of the property, asset or improvement proposed to be constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to, and the City Auditor has certified to this Commission such estimated life as exceeding five years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as more than five years.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it ordained by the Commission of the City of Xenia, State of Ohio:

SECTION 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, in the principal sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), in order to provide a fund for the purpose of the extension of its water works plant by the construction of building and incidental connections, for the proper supply of water to the corporation and the inhabitants thereof, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one (1) year's interest on said bonds. That such bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes shall not be issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds.

SECTION 2. That bonds of the City of Xenia, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2,000.00), for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), and said bonds shall be dated September 1, 1928, and shall bear interest at the rate of five and one-half (5½%) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of September and March of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows: One bond of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00), in each of the years September 1st, 1929 to September 1, 1933, both inclusive, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

The principal and interest of all of said bonds shall be payable at the office of the City Auditor of the City of Xenia, Ohio.

SECTION 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued; that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the City Auditor. Said bonds shall bear such consecutive numbers as the City Auditor shall determine.

SECTION 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when, and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said City of Xenia, Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall be not less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section 11 of Article XII of the Constitution.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected.

Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 5. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds, then said bonds not so taken shall be advertised for public sale and sold in the manner provided by law under the direction of the Finance Committee and the Auditor, but not for less than their par value and accrued interest; the bond sale advertisement shall state that any one desiring to do so, may present a bid or bids for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore fixed, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent, or multiples thereof; the proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount of said bonds issued for interest, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale and the amount of said bonds issued for interest shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 6. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 9th day of August, 1928.

S. M. McKAY,
President of City Commission
Attest: T. H. ZELL,
Clerk.
